ACHS may ask more out of Class of 2000

Administration proposes more, longer classes

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Raising expectations seems to be the theme as the new administration at Antioch Community High School embarks on its second semester.

In addition to creating a seven-period day with 55-minute classes and requiring students to take at least six courses a day, the ACHS administration, led by Superintendent Dennis Hockney and Principal Susan Mullendore, is also proposing to beef up the graduation requirements.

Beginning with the Class of 2000 which will enter high school with the start of the 1996-97 academic year, students will be required to amass 22.5 total credits upon graduation as opposed to the current 20 credits.

Furthermore, the number of credits in the core subjects would be increased. The proposed credit requirements in the core subjects include four years of English, three years of mathematics, two years of science, and 2.5 years of social studies.

The current core requirements include 3.5 years of English, two years of math, one year of science, and two years of social studies.

"This strikes at the heart of instruction," Mullendore told members of the board of education. "(Students) will have the ability to take advanced placement tests when (they) get to college, and (they) will have some skills to go directly into the work place."

Mullendore said the new graduation requirements would go hand in hand with the longer class periods and new daily course requirements also proposed.

"We're talking about school improvement and getting better and better," Mullendore said. "We want an education that we can be proud of."

Hockney added, "We have to meet the needs of the community to buy what we are See ACHS page A10

Groups urge letters to fight power lines

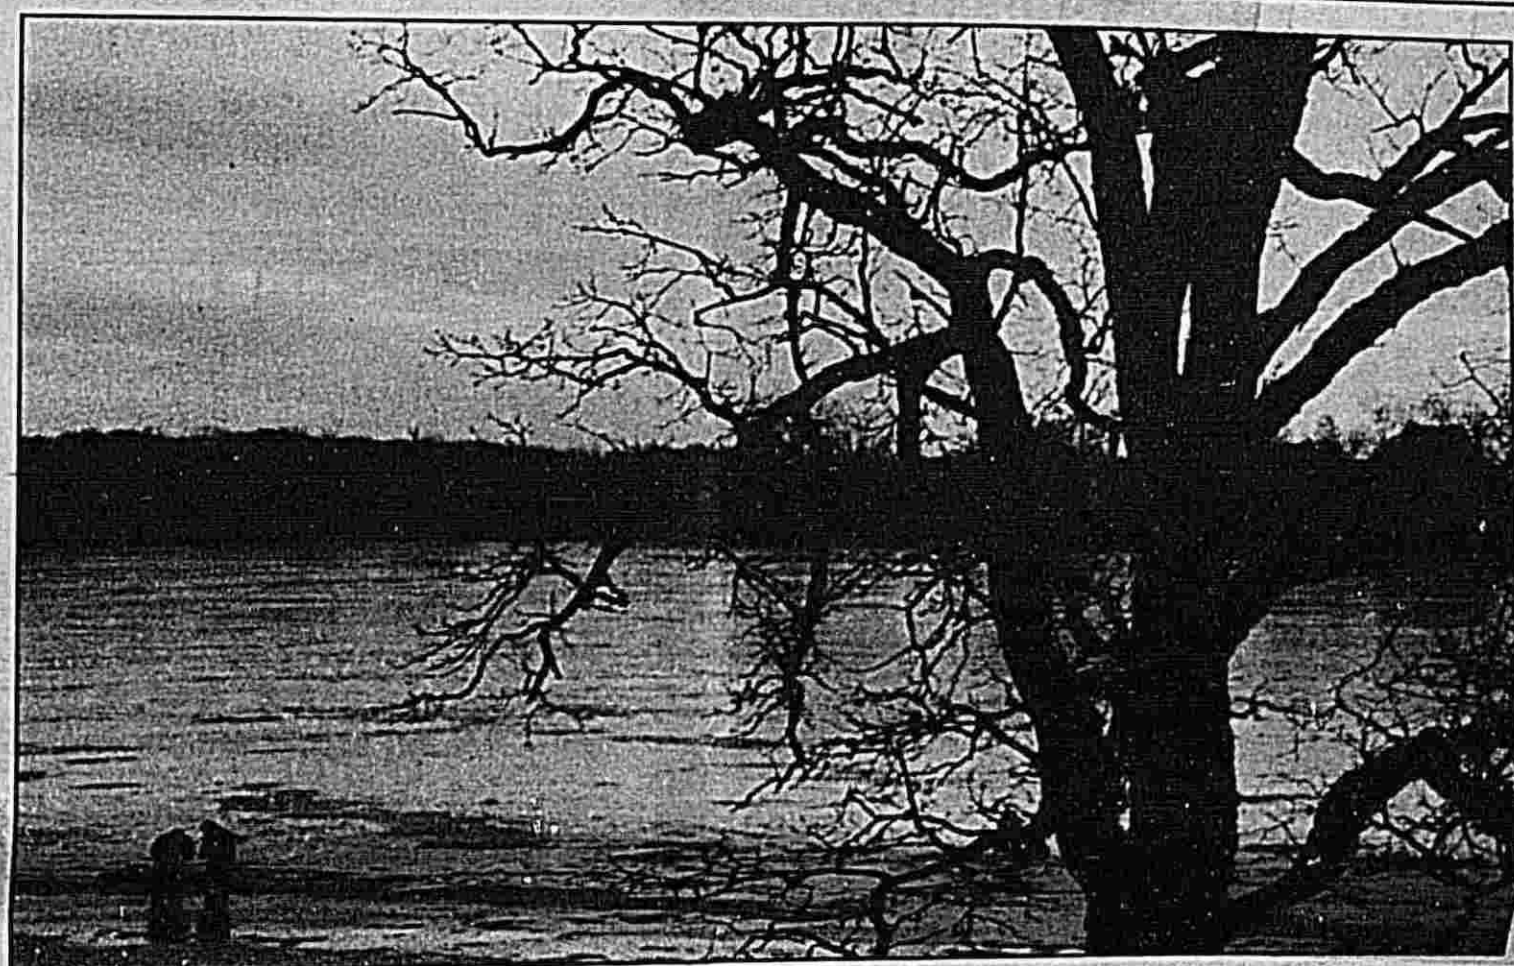

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Township residents are being encouraged to rejoin the battle to oppose ComEd's plans to build high-voltage power lines along the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks.

A letter-writing campaign is being spearheaded by Citizens Against UnSafe Electricity (CAUSE) to ask the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to hold a public hearing before approving ComEd's permit to construct the power lines.

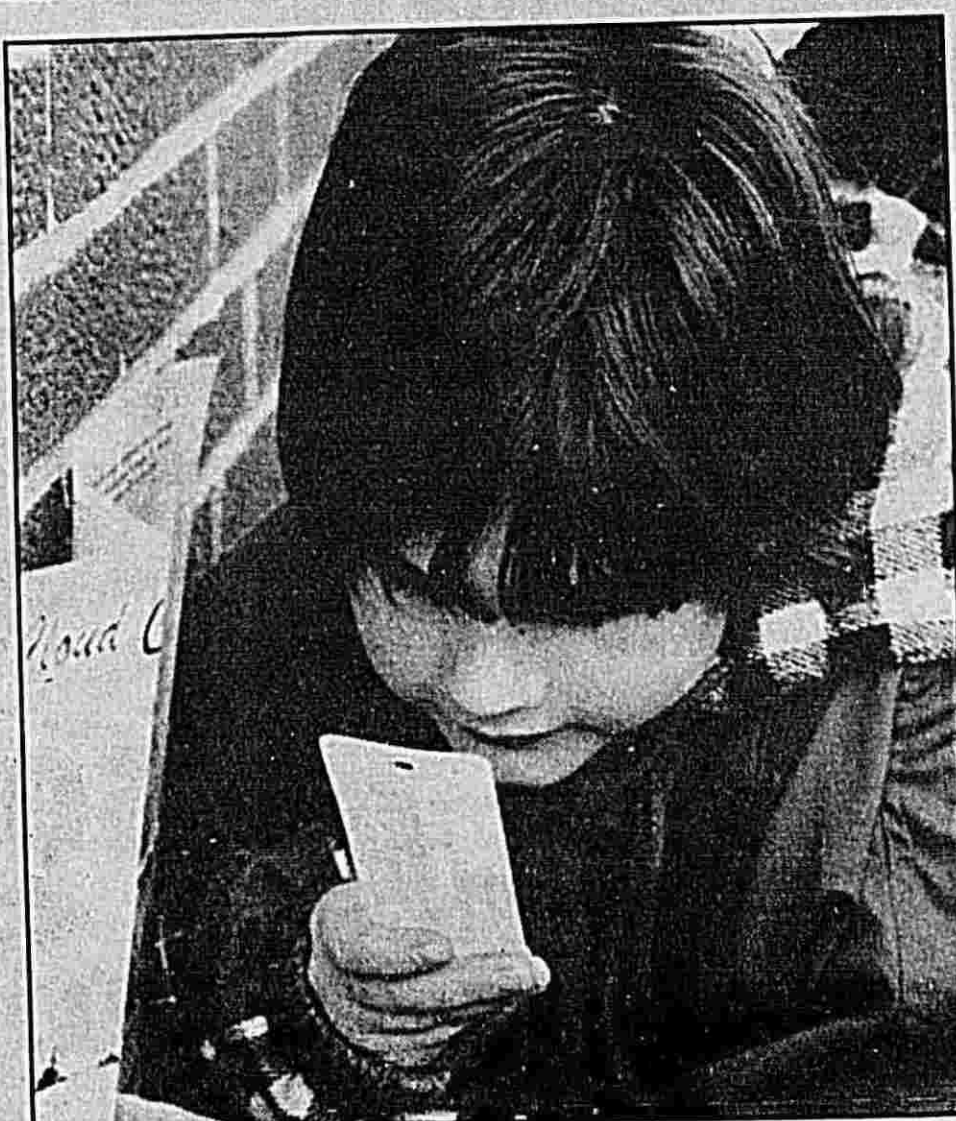

"We're hoping the Army Corps will hold a public hearing so we can stress our reasons why we don't want the power lines," said Lillian Golonka, a member of CAUSE.

YMCA aims to change lives through annual campaign

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

"Change a Life... Change the World." The Hastings Lake YMCA is asking community members to help make a difference in this community by supporting the annual giving campaign.

Hastings Lake YMCA, located in unincorporated Lake Villa, serves the communities in the northern half of Lake County, as well as southern Kenosha County.

All proceeds from the annual campaign go towards scholarships for programs offered by the YMCA, including child care, day camp, aquatics, horsemanship, membership, resident camp and more.

"The YMCA sets itself apart with its values — caring, honesty, respect and responsibility. Those are great values for our youth today."

— Joel Rader

"For many the YMCA is the only place they can turn to and when they do they are embraced," said Jim Scherer, executive director of Hastings Lake YMCA.

Scherer spoke to a group of about 75 campaigners at the kickoff of the annual campaign.

Scherer pointed out that park districts may offer similar programs as the YMCA, but only the YMCA serves residents regardless of their ability to pay.

Margaret Sexton, community director, said scholarship requests grow every year.

"You wouldn't think in Lake County there would be so many See YMCA page A10

Love Van hits streets filled with prizes

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Love hopes to be contagious and spread throughout Antioch.

As downtown merchants and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce prepare for the much anticipated first annual LoveFest '96, organizers

"Whenever a consumer buys a product in Antioch they will get a chance to win a prize that is in the van."

— Ed Cimaglio

learned that they had to upgrade their Love Bug full of raffle prizes to a Love Van.

At first, organizers believed a Volkswagen bug would suffice to promote prizes people can win if they shop or do their business in downtown.

But the prizes are bigger than originally expected as a gas grill, a video cassette recorder, a color television, furniture and a compact disc stereo are all ready for the winning.

"Whenever a consumer buys a product in Antioch they will get a chance to win a prize that is in the van," said Ed Cimaglio, an organizer with the chamber.

Throughout the weeklong promotion Feb. 3 to Feb. 10, consumers can increase their chances of winning a prize by doing business in downtown Antioch. The promotion will culminate with a LoveFest Dance at the VFW Feb. 10.

The Love Van will travel from location to location to showcase the prizes. The grand prize will include a golden heart filled with an undetermined amount of cash. All prizes will be raffled during the dance and winners need not be present, but the winner of the cash prize has to be in attendance at the dance.

"It was the downtown merchants that came up with this idea," said Cimaglio, who noted that the time between the Christmas holidays and Valentine's Day is traditionally a slow time for business.

In addition to the prizes in the Love Van, Cimaglio said shoppers can purchase tickets for the LoveFest Weekend Getaway Drawing, which will be raffled at the dance.

Couples can win one- and two-night packages at Lake Lawn Lodge in Delavan, Nippersink Country Club and Lodge in Genoa City, the Sybaris in Northbrook, the Abbey, and the Best Western in Antioch.

Tickets are $3 each or four tickets for $10. They can be purchased at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and various businesses.

While LoveFest aims to benefit the downtown store owners, Cimaglio said the LoveDance will be one of the major fund raisers for the chamber of commerce this year.

"From beautification projects, to entrance signs and the 'Experience Antioch' billboard, there's a lot of different things we do throughout the year," Cimaglio said.

Tickets for the LoveDance are $25 per couple or $15 per individual. Cost includes two free drinks per person and free hors d'oeuvres.

State not as forgiving as Antioch over engine

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Last month, Antioch trustees demonstrated their holiday spirit by forgiving a $3,000 debt owed to the village by another town, only to learn the state is not quite as forgiving.

Two years ago, the small village of Thebes, Ill., bought an antiquated fire engine from Antioch for $6,000. Thebes agreed to pay the Antioch Fire Department $1,000 a year and had made two payments, leaving a $3,000 balance outstanding. The small village of Thebes straddles the Mississippi River in southern Illinois.

Natural disaster struck Thebes when spring floods and an overflowing Mississippi River submerged the village in 1994. Although the town's village hall was under water, the fire department saved the fire engine by perching the engine atop higher lands.

Realizing the financial difficulties of the small village and the importance of the fire engine, trustees waived the remaining $3,000 due on the fire engine.

Antioch Attorney Kenneth Clark advised trustees the state does not have the same forgiving heart as Antioch.

"You just can't forgive the debt," Clark said. "The state says you have to declare the fire engine worthless."

Clark said the village had to prove to the state that the fire engine was deemed worthless by proving the village had no use of the vehicle any more nor the space to store the vehicle.

"We have to declare the unit worthless in order to forgive the debt," Clark said.

He drafted the required ordinance in order to explain why Antioch no longer needs the engine and could give the engine to Thebes.

"This is just a harsh way for the state government to forgive a debt," quipped Trustee Wayne Foresta.

Centegra site sparks new development area

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The ball has been set in motion to begin development behind downtown Antioch.

Centegra Health System bought a 6.1-acre commercial parcel for $330,000 at the corner of Park Avenue and Skidmore Drive. The health care company aims to develop the property into a complex of medical offices.

"Our plan right now is to put up a medical office building. We're still in the early planning stages as to what types of services will be offered," said Bill Clow, director of marketing and communication.

Centegra Health System is the parent organization for Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry and Memorial Medical Center in Woodstock.

Clow noted that there are no plans for emergency services or trauma center that would require ambulances exiting and entering the complex. He said the goal is to provide professional medical services and preventive care services such as chiropractors, foot doctors, family doctors, and other related services.

"At this point, we're not looking at emergency services," Clow said.

He added, "One of the reasons why we came to Antioch was because our research showed that Antioch needed more health services, so we felt it was important to have a presence in the Antioch area."

Claude LeMere, director of community development, welcomed the long-awaited closing of the property. He noted that the village constructed Skidmore Drive behind the shops of historic downtown Antioch with an eye of providing future development opportunities.

"The placement of Skidmore Drive opened up the east side of Main Street for development," LeMere said. "This (Centegra Health System) is the catalyst for that development." The site is also part of the Antioch tax incremental financing (TIF) district.

He also pointed out that the village is following the direction of the $25,000 market study conducted by S.B. Friedman & Company of Chicago.

LeMere said the 1993 study showed various development possibilities such as a civic center or recreation center, a health club, medical or "wellness" facilities, or cultural facilities.

"We are following the marketing report of downtown which shows that the east side of downtown is not a retail site," LeMere said. "The east side provides areas of opportunity such as a combination of civic facilities and medical services."

Clow said more detailed plans of the property will be forthcoming, and Centegra Health System will develop its own marketing report or survey what type of medical services should be offered at the site.

"The next step," Clow said, "is to get what the interest and needs are in the community for medical services."

Get LoveFest Dance tickets

Decorating crews have already begun preparing the VFW Hall for the LoveFest Dance Feb. 10.

The community dance will conclude the weeklong LoveFest retail promotion Feb. 3-10 in downtown Antioch.

Featuring a 1960s theme, participants are encouraged to dig out their tie-dyed T-shirts and bell-bottom pants and dance to the likes of The Beatles and The Beach Boys.

People will enter the Tunnel of Love. More than 12 restaurants will offer free hors d'oeuvres at the Incredible Edibles cafe and drinks will be available at the Love Potion Bar. Tickets are $15 per person or $25 per couple. Cost includes two free drink tickets per person and free edibles. Tickets are available at the chamber of commerce and the banks.

Saddle up for Emmons 'Round Up'

Emmons School is inviting parents to dust off their jeans, polish their boots and join the Emmons School community in the choral for its 1996 Round-Up Dinner Dance.

The Parent-Teacher Organization will present the dinner dance at Waterfalls Restaurant in Antioch, Feb. 3, beginning with a cash bar at 5:30 p.m. Dinner will be served from 6 to 7 p.m. followed by live, silent and spotlight auctions. Dancing will be provided by KC Sounds.

"Ed Diemer will be leading the auction. He's crazy. We had to hold him down last year. It's worth the price of the ticket just to watch him in action," said Stan Livermore, chair of the dance committee. Diemer owns Diemer Plumbing in Antioch.

As the biggest fund raiser of the year, proceeds help purchase furniture, equipment, teaching aids and contribute to special cultural and arts events for students.

Livermore noted that more than $8,000 was raised last year. He said the success was due to giving students and teachers greater participation in the auction. Students create many items in the auction.

"Everybody wants to know where the money is going," Livermore said. "It gives the kids a little more ownership when they are making things for the auction. It was a good plan last year."

In addition, when all the proceeds are gathered, students and teachers choose what is needed for their classrooms or for special projects such as field trips.

In following with a cowboy theme, participants are encouraged to wear boots and denim duds. Cost is $16 per person or $32 per couple. For more information, call the school at 395-1105.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

ACHS ponders longer class periods

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Beginning with the Class of 2000, Antioch Community High School students may be required to take six courses a day during a seven-period schedule beginning with the 1996-97 school year.

In effect, the number of periods a day would be reduced from eight to seven, but classes would be increased to 55-minute periods.

In addition, students would be required to take six courses a day.

"Right now, we have many students who only take four courses a day," noted Principal Susan Mullendore.

The seven-period day would still allow time for lunch and include state-mandated physical education and health classes.

Superintendent Dennis Hockney pointed out that junior high students take more courses during the 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. school day than many high school students at ACHS.

"Other high schools within the North Suburban Conference are already stretching their days," Hockney said.

"This has the effect of providing additional instructional time," Hockney said of the proposed 55-minute periods. "This stretches expectations."

In effect, the longer periods and the six-class-a-day requirement would squeeze more time spent on instruction.

For example, Mullendore pointed out that a student taking English under the new 55-minute class would essentially have four more days of English at the end of each semester or eight additional days of English by year's end.

"What we're saying is that we expect more of you between 7:45 a.m. and 3 p.m.," Mullendore said.

The proposed policy would also affect teachers' schedules. It would eliminate the supervision period for teachers, Mullendore said.

The board of education unofficially voiced their support toward the proposed policies, but more details and their effects on the teachers association still need to be discussed before the board officially adopts the policies.

Senior citizen swipes book

According to police reports, a security employee at Piggly Wiggly observed a senior citizen woman place a paperback book in her pocket without paying for the book on Jan. 19. Police arrested Rozella Mason, 68, of Salem, Wis., for retail theft. Police said she placed the book, "For the Roses," valued at $6.99, inside her pocket, and purchased several other items without paying for the book. Police said Mason said she did not know why she took the book and that she had enough money to pay for the book. She was released after posting $75 bond and will appear in Grayslake court Feb. 28.

Flashing lights result in arrest

On Jan. 19, police stopped Steven Keehan, 18, of Richmond, after observing him traveling less than a half car's length behind another vehicle while flashing his lights from highbeams to lowbeams. After further investigation, police learned his license was suspended. Keehan was given a written warning for following too close and was issued a ticket for driving while suspended. Keehan denied flashing his lights. He was released on recognizance bond and will appear in Grayslake court Feb. 28.

No tail light yields wanted man

After a routine traffic arrest on Jan. 18, police learned the motorist was wanted by two other law enforcement agencies. Police arrested Kenneth Krieger, 31, of Antioch, when he was observed driving with one tail light out. Krieger initially told police he had no identification and identified himself as Samuel Perstner, who was 19. When the police verified the given name, police learned the identification did not match the physical description. Police also learned Perstner was wanted in McHenry County for two counts of driving under the influence. He was also wanted by the Lake County Sheriff's Department for a simple battery charge. Antioch police charged him for driving with one tail light, driving an uninsured vehicle and driving while revoked. He will appear in Grayslake court Feb. 28 for the Antioch charges.

Found drinking at Burger King

On Jan. 14, police responded to a call of minors drinking in the parking lot at Burger King. Police charged Roy Rzechula, 20, of McHenry, and Michael Regner, 22, of McHenry for illegal transportation of open alcohol. According to reports, police observed both Rzechula and Regner with two female subjects in the car. Police saw Regner with one open bottle of Zima Clear, five unopened bottles of Zima Gold, and two closed bottles of Zima Clear at his feet. Rzechula, who was driving, told police only Regner was drinking. Police did not "detect any signs of alcohol consumption except Regner." After being charged, both were released on recognizance bonds and will appear in Grayslake court Feb. 14.

Many Retirees Face Financial Disaster!

Antioch, IL Many retirees face a 100% chance of financial ruin. How? They must bear the cost of long-term nursing and home-health care if they, or a loved one, require such care.

Give Up Your Assets

The government can, and will, force you to use your CDs, home, social security, pension checks, investments, IRAs and just about everything else of value to pay for long-term care.

The Greatest Myth

The greatest myth is that Medicare will pay for "all" long-term care costs. This is absolutely WRONG. Medicare is a health insurance program with limited benefits for long-term care.

Another Myth

The other myth is that Medicaid will pay for long-term care. This is true, but not until you have exhausted

Wife shooter gets 15 years

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Scottie Joe Parker, who has been living under the alias Gary Michael Reedy for the last 13 years, has been sentenced to 15 years in state prison for shooting his wife of eight years. The wife, Kay Clark Reedy, survived being shot three times. Parker shot Clark-Reedy, a member of the U.S. Navy, for allegedly having an affair while she was stationed in Guantanamo Bay Cuba.

The minimum sentence Parker could have received was six years, the maximum was 30, according to his defense attorney Chuck Smith.

Smith said Parker is required to serve 85 percent of his sentence which would amount to 12 years and nine months. He would then be almost 53 when he was released from prison.

Parker doesn't know where he will be incarcerated but will be transferred in the next few weeks to Stateville Penitentiary Joliet where he will be evaluated and then placed at another facility, according to Smith.

Parker had a prior criminal record including walking away from a North Carolina prison farm and assuming a new identity in 1983.

Following the shooting, Parker fled with his 7-year old daughter for three days after which he turned himself in.

Murder suspect found in Grayslake

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

A man wanted for first degree murder was taken into custody at a residence in Grayslake due to a tip from Lake County Crime Stoppers.

Grayslake police assisted the Chicago Police Dept. in serving a homicide warrant on Alejandro Rodriguez, 20, who was living at 680 S. Brittany. Rodriguez was living there with a female friend. O'Leary said Rodriguez fled to Mexico for four months following the incident and the police had no clue to his whereabouts prior to the Crime Stoppers call.

Grayslake Sergeant Matt McCutcheon said the suspect was taken into custody with no problems.

According to Detective James O'Leary of the Chicago Police

Dept., Rodriguez had been at large since the incident in March of 1995 which occurred on the city's South Side.

"Apparently he and several friends were in an apartment drinking and he fired a sawed off shotgun which hit his friend in the head and killed him," O'Leary explained.

Currently Rodriguez is being held at Chicago's second district awaiting bond court.

The Lead-Footed Line Dancers like to hoot and holler

If you like to hoot and holler and stomp and kick, the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. is still offering those ever popular line dance lessons. The "Lead Footed Line Dancers," as the students call themselves, consist of beginners, intermediate dancers and the always fun "never fail to bump into a fellow classmate" dancers.

This group never fails to amaze the dance instructor, Louise Butterbaugh, and she often wonders why she didn't go into a more sedate profession, like bull riding. Some of these students have been traveling beyond the confines of our quaint town of Antioch to distant Country Western establishments, to strut the stuff they have learned at class. It is becoming the hope, desire and war cry of this growing bunch of fun-loving, energetic, laugh-at-yourself folks to find a place closer to home willing to open their doors to the newest dance craze.

A fine establishment in our very own town contacted Louise about the possibility of offering this activity to the home town folks. At their next meeting, Louise would like to be able to present them with a definite show of interest. If you have an interest in this healthy, fun activity, and would like to see it offered in our own town, please contact Liz Schmehl at 395-5380, Marie Brausam at 395-1236, or Donna Bergl at 838-1045 and arrange to have your name added to the ever-growing list of interested people, in order to further tempt the Antioch establishment to give line dancing a try on a regular basis. Please contact any one of the above people as soon as possible so we can get on the bandwagon and become trendsetters for the surrounding communities. Ye Ha!

She sat there and watched

As most of you know, I really don't have a job outside the house other than writing this column and a few other odd volunteer positions I tend to. I usually have a house, van or shopping cart full of kids. I am so pre-disposed to this Mommy stuff I react to situations solely out of reflex. My sister and I threw caution to the wind and took all five of our kids out for lunch. After I went around the table unwrapping hamburgers and pouring ketchup on French fries, I matter-of-factly reached over the table and began unwrapping my sister's burger and starting pooling ketchup for her fries. It was just a spontaneous reaction—I simply saw some unattended food and went into action.

Now, most grown adults would quickly intervene the minute another grown adult began manhandling their food. But not my sister. Oh no, no, no—she never tried to stop me or interrupt me or even question my behavior. She just let me go about my business and when the mission was accomplished, she very politely thanked me for my help.

I couldn't believe what I had just done. But I was even more amazed that she just sat there and let me complete my motherly chore without so much as a courteous inquiry as to what the heck I was doing. The fact hit home that I really do need to get out more. I guess the real, true test that I have been thoroughly consumed by this mommyhood stuff, would be the day my sister sneezes and I reach across the table to wipe her nose!

And so goes another "Jingle From Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Views On Dental Health

By Brian Gniadek, D.D.S.

FLUORIDE FACTS

Dental literature is replete with facts on the effectiveness of fluoride in preventing tooth decay. How does it work? Sugars in the mouth set up a favorable environment for the growth and development of germs. These germs produce acids that cause decay and leave behind deposits that injure the gums. One of the big defenses against this process is fluoride which builds up the resistance of teeth to these acids. It should be in your child's drinking water so it can be absorbed in his growing teeth; it should also be in your child's toothpaste, and applied regularly on his teeth by the family dentist.

Chicago (the first big city to fluoridate its water supply) reports that tooth decay has been cut in half among its school children, and credits fluoride for this improvement. As an added plus, Chicago parents are saving an estimated $20 million a year in dental bills.

In areas where the water is not fluoridated, children's teeth can be substantially protected against cavities by fluoride in drop or tablet form.

Antioch Rotary boasts link to founder Harris

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

In a round-about way, it might be said the Antioch Rotary Club has some connections to the founding father of Rotary International.

Paul Harris conceived of the businessman club in 1900 and started the first Rotary Club in 1905, but the Antioch Rotary Club was not chartered until 1968, more than 20 years after Harris died.

Yet, current Antioch Rotarian Jim Polley said his mother, Mary Sorrenson Polley, can recall when Harris sat in a rocking chair and shared conversations with Polley's grandfather Frederick Sorrenson in the Sorrenson summer home in western Michigan.

In fact, Harris and Polley's maternal grandparents played "Scrabble" together while the two families vacationed in a small western Michigan resort community.

"My mother knew Paul Harris," Polley said proudly. "We still have the rocking chair in the house that Paul Harris sat in."

Polley said his mother was young when Harris visited her family, so she did not fully appreciate the significance of knowing the man who is now revered worldwide.

"They were friends and guests at each other's house, and they saw each other at church," Polley said of his family's relationship with Harris.

Harris was actually born in Racine, Wis., in 1868, but he was raised and reared in a small town in Vermont, where he had grown fond of small-town living. Harris eventually earned a law degree and started a law practice in Chicago.

It was during his life and career in the "big city" of Chicago that Harris began conceiving of the Rotary Club. He was disturbed by the fact that he could walk to various shops and places of business near his office and nobody knew each other personally.

Harris yearned to recapture that friendly spirit among businessmen that prevails in small-town communities.

"He founded the Rotary out of

Christi's holds first ice derby

There will be free chili and coffee on the lake throughout the day. Cash prizes will be awarded for the longest fish in five different categories. Prizes will be determined by the number of entries.

Cash prizes for the longest fish will be in five categories including northern and muskie, bass, walleye, pan fish, and children. Participants can register at Christi's Tavern located at Grass Lake Road and Route 83 in Antioch. For more information, call 395-2885.

loneliness," said Polley, who has read his fair share of history about Harris and the Rotary Club.

Harris and three other business acquaintances met in 1905 to start a new kind of businessman's club which brought together different professions in friendship. The weekly meetings "rotated" from one business to the next; hence, the term "Rotary Club."

"He started the Rotary as a way to build friendships," Polley noted.

Fifty years later, there were more than 8,313 Rotary clubs in 27 different countries with a membership of more than 390,000. Today, there are more than 25,000 clubs in 150 countries with more than 1.1 million members.

"Paul had no idea what he was starting, and the purpose of Rotary has grown to promote the brotherhood of all mankind," Polley said.

Worldwide, Rotary International promotes an international exchange program, its foundation has topped $50 million, millions of high school students have benefited from scholarships, and it aims to eliminate polio from the planet.

Locally, Rotary clubs raise funds for local charities, distribute food and clothing to the less fortunate, hold fund-raisers, and assist with other worthwhile projects.

The Antioch Rotary Club is no exception to the vision Harris had more than 90 years ago.

"Antioch is the same type of town Harris grew up in and wanted to create in Rotary," Polley said. "Everybody in Antioch knows everybody. Antioch has what Paul Harris envisioned."

Drug testing: How ethical, reliable is it?

Editor's note: The following two columns are written by students in Sharon Peterson's science class at Antioch Community High School. The class hopes to increase scientific literacy and share their ideas and knowledge in this monthly column.

Drugs are a major problem in our world today, but many technological weapons have been found to help fight the war over drug use. Drug testing is just one of these. However, every weapon has its drawbacks and drug testing has been criticized because of these for several years.

Drug testing has been called unethical and unreliable. Even though drug testing is 95 percent reliable, there is still margin for error. Many also think drug testing can sometimes be an infringement upon their constitutional rights, namely the Fourth Amendment.

To determine if drug testing should still be used today, we need to ask ourselves if the 5 percent margin of error and the ethics involved are enough to make drug testing entirely useless. The answer, obviously, is no. Overall, drug testing has been and will continue to be a great way to eliminate the use of drugs in our world today.

Three tests are used widely today to test for drugs. All of the tests require a urine sample. The first test is called a thin-layer chromatograph, and if alone is not very reliable. The urine is separated in the thin-layer chromatograph by the flow rate of the various substances down the specially coated surface of the chromatograph.

The second test that can be used requires a gas chromatograph. In this test, the urine is first vaporized and then passes through a column. The amount of time it takes for each gaseous compound to pass through the column is different and the substances in the urine are thus identified. Yet a third method of testing can be done to test for drugs. This test involves the use of a mass spectrometer. The mass spectrometer contains magnets that separate the compounds by their mass.

Together, these tests are about 95 percent accurate. Unfortunately, there have been several isolated cases when a drug test has falsely identified a drug user. Many times, this is merely because only the first test was used. Using the first test cuts costs, but the test is highly unreliable. An accurate drug test can cost up to $200. Even accurate tests sometimes can falsely identify a drug user.

For example, poppy seeds contain a small amount of heroin. If someone eats a bun with poppy seeds and then submits to a drug test, the test could possibly identify the worker as a user of heroin. Sometimes, it would be helpful to allow an employee to take the test twice, especially if he failed the test the first time. Taking the test twice improves the reliability of results, and can allow someone that failed the test earlier to pass.

Unfortunately, many people believe that submitting to a drug test is an infringement on their rights. This depends on the circumstance. This is also because random testing is becoming more and more popular. The fourth amendment of the constitution prohibits only "unreasonable searches and seizures," and many drug tests are done only on suspected drug users.

However, employee drug abuse supposedly costs major corporations $33 billion a year and several have started random testing. In 1986, 40 percent of major corporations were already using drug testing on their employees.

This issue must be looked at from many angles. Several employees are concerned about their privacy, but why should they be concerned? Do they have something they want to hide?

Drug testing only tests for drugs, nothing else. Yet, it is possible for the results to be wrong, and many employees are not given a second chance. Also, is such widespread testing necessary? This random testing almost seems to be too much. However, finding drug users is important, too, and can help save money.

Overall, there needs to be a general rule for drug testing. Everyone knows drug testing should be used, but to what extent? Drug tests should only be used when someone is suspected of using drugs.

Random testing has in some cases been proven unconstitutional, for there is no reason or suspicion in these cases. The people's rights are just as important as eliminating drug users and saving money.

Ouper

The question no longer seems to be entirely whether the tests are accurate enough or not, but whether the testing is ethical. The 5 percent margin of error affects very few people, and this error can be greatly reduced if tests are done more than once.

Also, new testing called EMIT (enzyme multiplied immunoassay technique) promises to be more accurate than either the gas chromatograph or the mass spectrometer. Basically, antibodies (substances that attack other substances invading the body), for each drug are added to the urine being tested. Since each antibody visibly attacks a different substance, it will be easy to find out which drug, if any, the person has used.

No test is ever 100 percent reliable, in fact, nothing is. Drug testing should not be thrown-by-the-wayside because of this simple fact, rather, precautions should be taken and anyone failing the test should be given another chance.

However, drug testing should not go too far either. It should be used only when there is suspicion. Our rights defined in the Bill of Rights are more important than drug testing.—by Andy Ouper

Drug testing: Is 95 percent efficiency good enough?

The use of illegal drugs is a major concern to our society. Should employers have the right to screen potential employees for illegal drug use? I believe so. Employers take on increased risks when they hire someone who uses drugs. First of all, I think the possibility of tardiness and absenteeism rises. There is also the risk of the employee stealing from his employer to help support his drug habit. Both of these cost the employer money. The employer may also be putting the safety of his other employees at risk when he hires someone involved with drugs.

While we would all feel better with a drug test that was 100 percent reliable, unfortunately that just isn't possible at this time. But I feel that 95 percent efficiency is good enough for employers to put drug testing into action. The benefits at this point in time far exceed the risk of failure. This country needs to protect its law abiding citizens and get help for those citizens in need. Maybe employees who test positive for illegal drug use could have to test positive two separate times before any action is taken. This would help to eliminate the 5 percent failure rate.

One area where there currently is drug testing is in the field of athletics. Of course the obvious reason for this is that the use of certain drugs can give an athlete an unfair advantage over his competition. But there is another positive side to drug testing for athletes. Athletes are so often role models in our society. I bet almost every grade school child could name at least one athlete they like or admire. That puts a tremendous amount of responsibility on our athletes. I feel the responsibility to be a good role model should be included as part of an athlete's job description. If an athlete can't handle it, then they need to find another job that doesn't have such high visibility.

For drug testing to work, I think it would have to be done on a surprise basis. The employee must not be given the chance to get prepared for the test. Maybe if drug testing was a requirement in the work place, this country would be sending out a message that there is no room in our society for illegal drugs. And just maybe we could zero in on those who have a problem and give them the help they need. Maybe we could make this a better place in which to live.—by Kevin Chudd

Chain O'Lakes marinas expect 'fantastic' sales in '96

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Marinas on the Chain O' Lakes announced a number of new boat owners came out of '95, and they predict this year to generate even more skippers.

Sales at the Sequoit Harbor Marina in Antioch last fall went exceptionally well, said Joyce Gavin, general manager. "We have very few '95 models [left]. Nineteen ninety-five was an excellent year," she explained.

While the boating season is still months away, sales are on, said Gavin.

At the Fox Lake Harbor Marina on Route 59, "We're selling a lot of boats!" Warren Moulis said.

Moulis said his business competed with a number of other marinas in the Chicago Boat, Sports and RV Show earlier this month, and generated tremendous sales. "It was a fantastic show," he said, explaining 109 different types of boats from his marina were sold there.

Gavin said Sequoit Harbor vessels were also sold in great quantity from the Boat Show. "Last year was good too," she added.

"I think the economy was good, employment was good, and there was no recession," said Gavin.

Shouting 'Ships ahoy!' isn't just done by the retired or wealthy with time on their hands. "There's a boat for everybody now," Moulis said.

"It's a family thing," said Gavin. "The kids can enjoy it too."

Moulis said boat buyers include those from all age groups, and all walks of life.

Pontoon boats once known as "old-folks boats" are not that any longer, explained Gavin. Now people can party on their watercraft, and can even barbecue.

Premier Pontoons are the best selling at Sequoit Harbor, along with another kind very much like a pontoon called a Sunesta by Chaparral, and also the Sea Sprite which has been in business for over 30 years.

Out of the hundreds of boats customers purchase from Fox

Lake Harbor each year are the very popular Bayliner brand. Bayliner boasts "The most boat for your money," said Moulis.

He also has on hand a number of Spectrum aluminum boats which include pontoon and fishing styles. About 10 to 15 percent of his sales are aluminum boats, he explained.

"We expect a fantastic year [ahead]," said Moulis. Both marina operators explained there has been a lot of enthusiasm for boating.

Sequoit Harbor is located in a quiet corner of Lake Marie at the north end of the Chain along Route 173.

Fox Lake Harbor is situated on the largest lake on the Chain—Fox Lake.

Both businesses offer an array of services and items compatible with the sport of boating. The marinas also have a number of boat slips available.

Sun Lake baseball agreement postponed

Field(s) of dreams.

The movie title may be fitting to describe the latest round in the long-negotiated process to play ball at Sun Lake Forest Preserve.

After nearly two years of negotiations, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board was set to approve an intergovernmental agreement, Jan. 19, with the Village of Lake Villa for the construction and use of baseball fields in the forest preserve. But questions arose during the final finance committee meeting which prompted the board to send the agreement back to committee for clarification.

'I'm confident, as is Mayor Frank Loffredo, that this issue will be resolved and the fields will be built.'

— Suzi Schmidt

"If the commissioners have concerns let's have them answered and make everyone happy," said Suzi Schmidt, County Board Member Dist. 3 representing Lake Villa.

Schmidt had requested the board put a 30-day time limit on resolving the issues so the Village of Lake Villa could continue with its plans. The board of commissioners voted 15-7 against her motion, saying they would not rush the agreement.

"We have an agreement to honor on this parcel," Schmidt told the board. "When we bought the land, we made an agreement with the village to construct the ball fields. This has been a long process and I thought we had covered everything, but if questions remain let's clear them up."

Some Forest Preserve commissioners say they hesitated to approve the agreement because they feel it is important the board have a consistent policy on the use of Forest Preserve land. A proposal to allow the construction of a golf learning center in Buffalo Grove was defeated by the Forest Preserve last year primarily because it would have been an active recreation site and it would have allowed a corporation to profit while on Forest Preserve land.

"I'm concerned that as a board we have a consistent policy as to what sort of activities we want to see in the Forest Preserves," said David Stolman, Dist. 20. "This is not about Little League, no one wants to hurt the Little League, this is about a consistent policy and making the right decision."

Schmidt says the proposed Michael Jordan Golf Learning Center and the use of ball diamonds for a Little League program are not comparable.

"The Michael Jordan investors stood to make thousands, this is just the Little League, it's not a profit making proposition." The fields would also not be used year-around by the Little League.

Schmidt reminded fellow board members that the Forest Preserve currently leases land to the American Legion in Gurnee which contains ball diamonds. The ball diamonds are leased to the Legion for $1 per year.

"That goes back to the early '80s and was a pre-existing condition," said Steve Messerli, director of Lake County Forest Preserve.

Schmidt believes the agreement sets precedent to allow the use of ball fields in other forest preserves. The fields would be used by the Lake Villa Township Baseball Association.

"We made an agreement with the village when we bought the property; we had to have the village's agreement to purchase it," Schmidt said. The property was purchased in 1992.

"As a Board we are thinking this issue through," said Jim LaBelle, Forest Preserve president. "In the past we have had a policy emphasizing more passive recreation in the Forest Preserve. We need to examine that policy."

Under terms of the intergovernmental agreement, the village will pay the Forest Preserve $2,200 for an easement to allow utilities to the center of the baseball complex and $4,500 in fees. The village will be required to pay the same amount per acre as the farmer plowing the land currently does as a form of lease payment.

The baseball league will construct four baseball fields on 14 acres of land off Grass Lake Road. The league has more than 700 players from Lake Villa, Antioch as well as Grant and Warren Townships.

"I'm confident as is Mayor Frank Loffredo that this issue will be resolved and the fields will be built," said Schmidt.

This year's goal is $60,000. So far, pledges total $17,905 including a $2,000 donation from actor Paul Newman's salad dressing company, Newman's Own, Inc. The donation was secured through Newman's Own Sales Manager Tim Dausch, a neighbor of YMCA Board President Bob Casey in Third Lake.

As in previous years, YMCA staff members were the first to show a spirit of generosity. So far, YMCA staff has pledged $7,315. That is from 41 people, mostly part-time workers.

Hastings Lake YMCA believes it has solutions to many of the problems facing the community, said Scherer.

He pointed out the after school program is an alternative to sending a child home to an empty house; the quality day care and day camp programs allow parents to work or go to school; membership to the YMCA can help older adults who face loneliness or deteriorating health; YMCA family-building activities are an answer to hectic schedules and power lines from Rollins Road in Round Lake Beach through Lake Villa to Antioch along the Wisconsin Central Railroad. The power lines will range in height from 90 feet to 180 feet.

Letters

CAUSE was successful in getting ComEd to bury the power lines near Palombi School in Lake Villa.

Golonka said CAUSE's concerns are about the safety issues behind the electromagnetic fields the power lines emit and the potential environmental damage to various wetlands near Loon Lake in Antioch Township. The power lines are proposed to be built along the western edge of Loon Lake.

"There are health problems although they claim that they don't cause health problems, but there is literature that the high wires do cause problems," Golonka said.

CAUSE has been fighting the power lines since 1991, and Lake County Board Member Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa has been an outspoken critic against the power lines. Board Member Judy Martini of Antioch has also lent her support to CAUSE's efforts.

"Up until now, people in Antioch did not take a big interest, but we have held them back since 1991 and we hope to continue to prolong the permit," Golonka said.

In addition to CAUSE, the United Homeowners Associations of Unincorporated Antioch have lent their support toward the letter-writing campaign as well.

"Since we are a fairly new group, it would be in our best interest to have a public hearing," said UHAUA President Carolyn Jonites. "We're just asking for a public hearing for ComEd to explain their situation and to learn about any health risks."

Golonka asked interested residents to write letters to the Army Corps of Engineers requesting a public hearing before Feb. 5. The army corps is expected to close public comment by Feb. 9.

Letters can be sent to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Project #199200837, District Engineer, Attn: Regulatory Branch, 111 North Canal Street, Chicago, IL 60606-7206.

selling, and we're selling education."

Members of the board of education generally welcomed the new proposals with few concerns.

"I am very encouraged," noted President Phillip Delany.

"I think we're going to see a better quality student as a whole coming out of Antioch High School," said Wayne Sobczak, board vice president.

But Board Member Kathy Werchek said the new workloads may be overly cumbersome for students who may be slower learners. She encouraged the administration to address the needs of the slower learners as well.

"No one student is any more important than any other student," said Hockney, adding that the new requirements are not just designed to address the needs of the college-bound student.

He said some programs, such as Wisdom Hall and Promoting Academic Success through Sport (PASS), are already in place to assist students who need additional attention.

Furthermore, Mullendore said she would ask parents to encourage their children to take at least one class they want to take each semester coupled with the new rigorous workload.

"Above all else, I would ask students to devote one period to a class they want to take," Mullendore said. "That class is what keeps them coming to school."

Antioch's defense strong, but SHS proves talented

Parts of Antioch High's game plan to slow or stop Stevenson worked well as the two girls basketball teams clashed Saturday.

The defending state champion Patriots prevailed 55-32 as a fast 20-7 start put the Sequoits in a tough spot.

"Defensively, we executed the game plan and offensively we took time off the clock in a half-court offense. We got high percentage shots, but we did not finish them and they have so many weapons," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

Tauja Catchings had 17 points and Katie Coleman 16 for the Pats (18-1, 8-1 NSC). The strategy was to get weakside help when the two big scorers hit the paint area and the Sequoits did in the final three quarters.

"We played decent ball in the second to fourth quarters," Woods said.

Antioch (12-8 overall, 4-5 NSC) hosts North Chicago at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 30. The cellar-dwelling Warhawks may be a not-so tough challenge as the Sequoits have been facing.

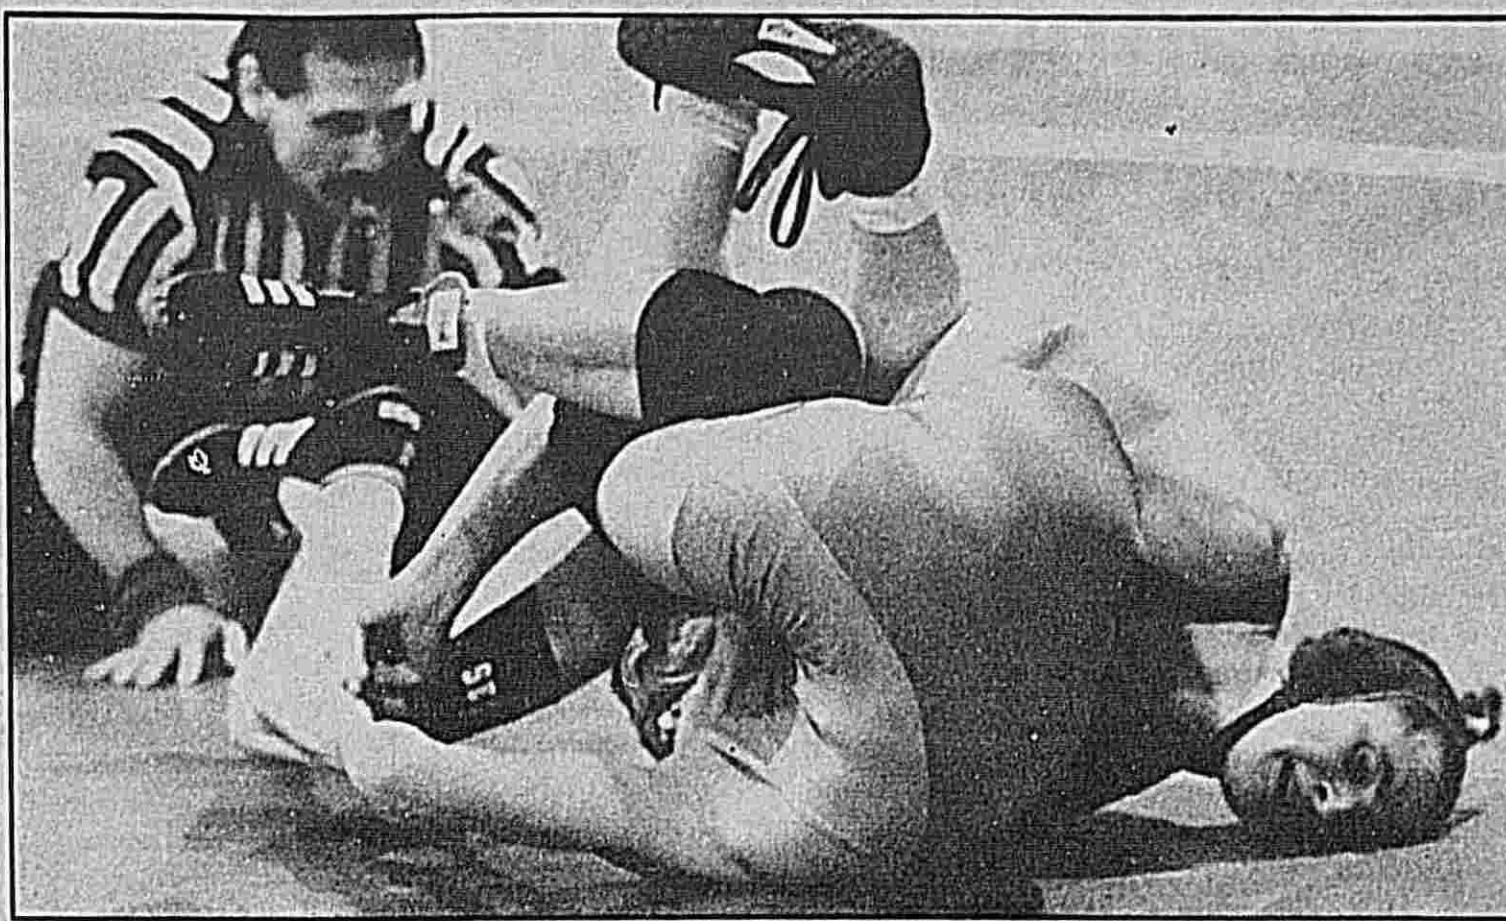

"We are in a tough stretch with Warren, Libertyville, Stevenson (all losses) and Lake Forest (Tuesday) - the four toughest teams in the conference. I think we have played pretty good basketball over the last couple of weeks," Woods said.

Antioch High School's Mike Ray takes control of Warren's Joe Brandimore before scoring a pin late in the third period. Antioch downed Warren 44-16, completing an undefeated North Suburban Conference dual season. WTHS managed only two wins in the meet, while Antioch got pins from Ray and Joe Marcomb. ## Fast finish not enough for Antioch to top Wildcats

A flurry of a finish was not enough for Antioch to overcome first-half deficits as the Sequoits lost a hard-fought battle with Libertyville.

The Wildcats prevailed 56-53 thanks to 18 points from Lukas McKnight, 15 from Tim Beshel and J.R. Jurecko. A 12-4 Libertyville second quarter run opened a close game. The lead reached double digits in the second half.

"We dug ourselves a hole in the second quarter, but the kids played hard," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

Lukas McKnight scored 18 points and showed his long-range shooting skills.

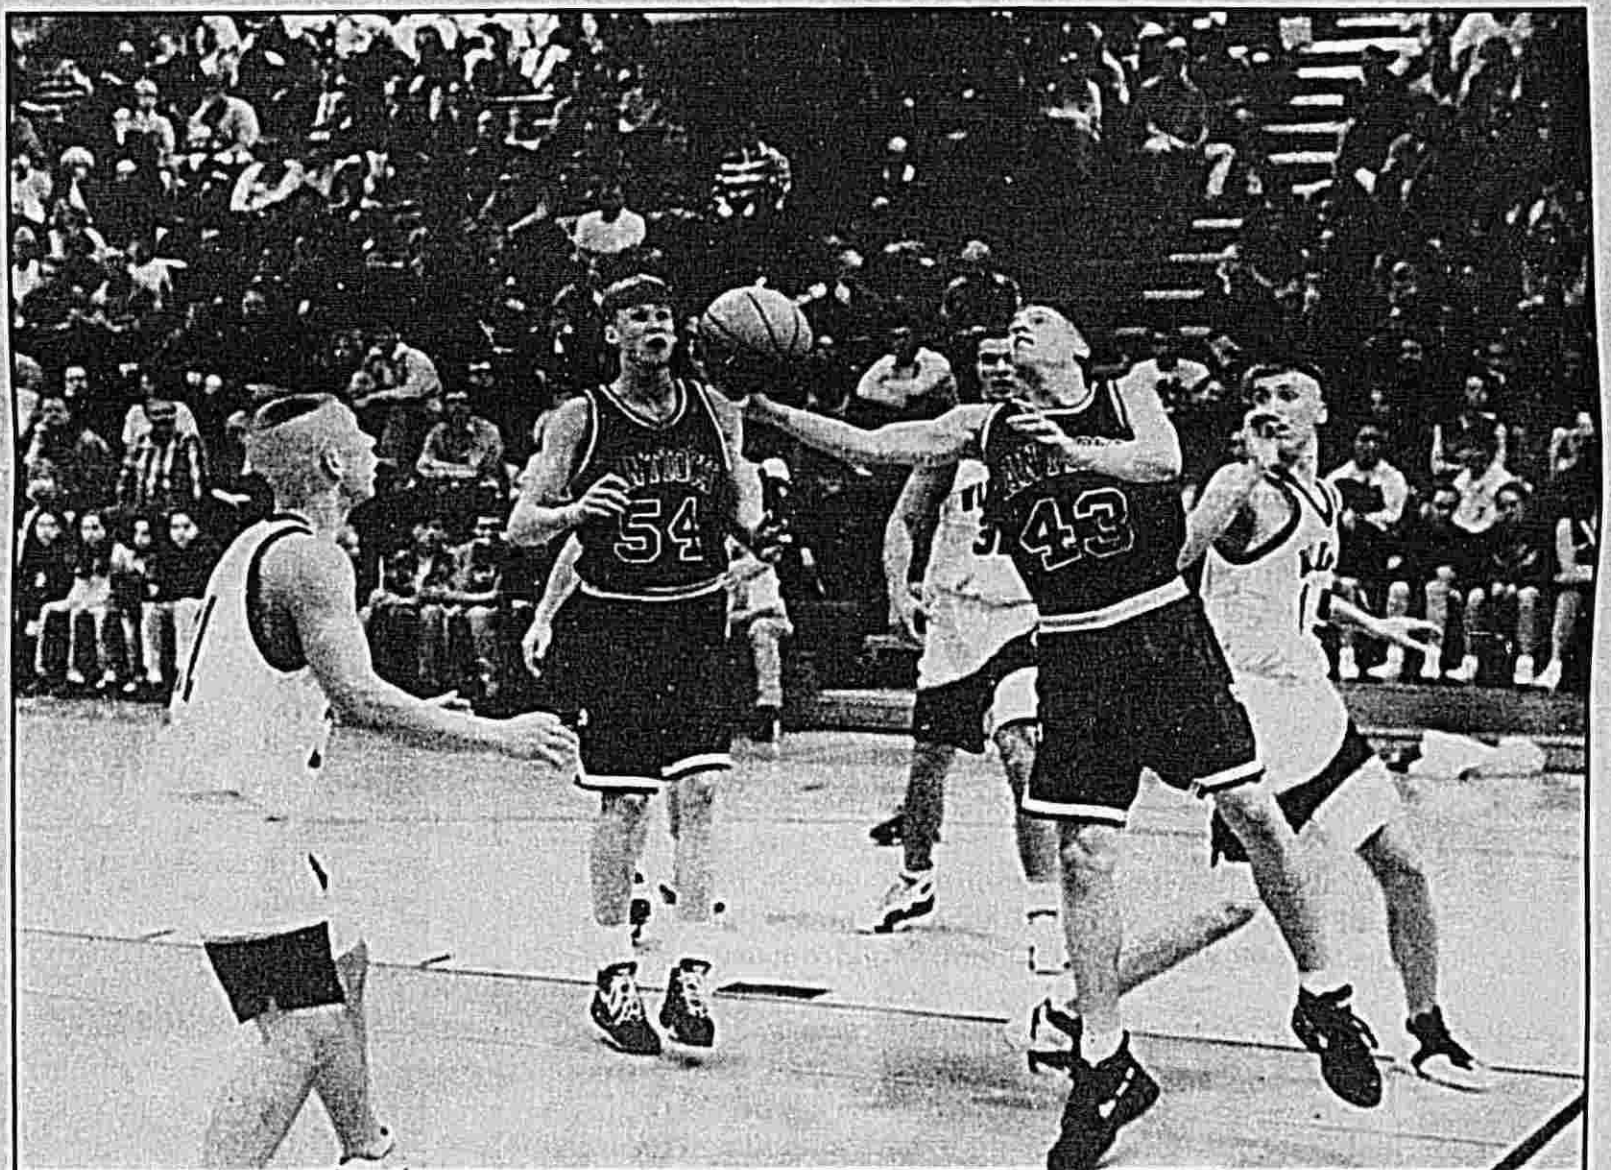

"He has had a couple of good games in a row. He can shoot from the perimeter. Some of our opponents are doubling down on Jurecko," LHS Coach Max Sanders said.

Jim Oboikowitch scored seven points inside.

Libertyville improved to 12-5 overall and 6-2 in the North Suburban Conference. The Wildcats are at North Chicago Jan. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

The comeback was sparked as Antioch's outside shooting went over Libertyville's zone defense. Kevin Geraghty canned two three-pointers to account for half of his 12 points, and Justin McRae scored late in the game as the Sequoits erased 10 points of a 15-point LHS lead.

"Geraghty shoots the ball well," said Sanders.

"Kevin Eckenstahler and Dan Riepe (11 and nine points) got some inside rebounds and Erick Campbell (10 points) got the ball to people he needed to. Libertyville zoned us but we figured it out," Dresser said.

Antioch (9-10 overall, 3-5 NSC) was hurt by the play of Beshel, Dresser said. "We knew Jurecko would get his points, but Beshel hurt us," he said.

Eckenstahler scored the zgame's final two points for the margin.

Antioch hosts Stevenson (5-13, 3-5) at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 26. Dan Brown and Tony Long lead the Patriots.

Foster leads, helps WTHS 'road warriors' gain wins

Home games are something foreign to Warren High's boys basketball team this month, but at least one Blue Devil was right at home — at Highland Park Saturday.

Maurice Foster broke out of a game-and-a-half slump to score 11 points, grab three rebounds and an assist in the final quarter as Warren pulled away from the Giants 54-45.

Foster, a senior, spent his grammar school days in Highland Park, planning to become a Giant. But he is now a Giant slayer, leading the Warren effort with 16 points.

"We're making some progress. We are in a stretch where we have played, after next weekend, we have played seven of eight games on the road," Warren Coach Chuck Ramsey said.

The win followed a 67-56 win at Stevenson as Warren maintained its first-place standing in the North Suburban Conference. Luke Moo scored 25 points and Foster had 19 in the game with the second-division Patriots.

Warren has its only January home game Jan. 26 when it hosts cellar-dwelling Mundelein. It is back on the road again Jan. 27 at Hoffman Estates, the last game before the Jan. 31 seeding meeting.

Warren's reserves played nearly half the game and many contributed. Highland Park was outscored 14-0 from non-starters. James Williams had four points, Damion Forest six, to lead the way.

The fourth quarter boiled down to a battle of wills this Saturday night contest. At stake was consideration in next week's Waukegan sectional seeding meeting, and Warren was after win number 10.

The game was up for grabs and it was a defensive struggle. Warren outshot the Giants, 47-39 percent.

Foster's three-pointer gave the Blue Devils the lead for good at 39-37 with just over five minutes left. He continued his run with a lay-up basket to complete a steal, a basket off an assist from Luke Moo and a tip-in for a 47-42 lead.

Matters remained in doubt when High; and Park's Jonathan Pure sank three free throws with :25 left. Ramsey credited the job Darnell Smith did defensively on Pure.

ACHS, 'Cats grapplers brace to clash for NSC supremacy

Host Antioch may be the team all other North Suburban Conference wrestling teams will be gunning for as the Sequoits host the annual NSC meet.

Antioch comes into the meet with a perfect record in league duals following a 44-16 win over Warren. Antioch dominated the meet with only two losses.

ACHS found it rough going at Grant's meet Saturday, losing to Marist and the host team. Warren bounced back to enter into the NSC meet coming off of a win over Niles West.

Matt Hlinak at 119 pounds was 3-0 for the weekend, while Jason Breen at 160 pounds and Jeff Ultes at 152 both won two matches to surpass the 25-win plateau.

"For the conference, all three will have an edge in the tournament," ACHS Coach Ted Sieckowski said.

Libertyville, whom Antioch beat in duals, is considered the top challenge at Saturday's meet.

LHS is 7-1 in conference duals.

"Libertyville is out to win the tournament. They will be our biggest foe," Sieckowski said.

Senior Joe Marcomb had an impact in the Warren meet, as he pinned Kevin Williams in :59. "Joe has been trying to get it together. He is a nice addition to the lineup," Sieckowski said.

The ACHS senior sat out last year.

With the exception of unbeaten Mike Ray at 135 pounds and Bill Bigger's wins by decision at 171 pounds, the match was all Antioch.

The conference meet will be impacted if Lake Forest High's team is not allowed to compete. At issue is the number of tournament entries.

"It is too bad for the conference because Lake Forest has some good individuals," Warren Coach Mark Tiffany said.

Warren achieved a better than .500 dual record at 11-10 with a 49-16 win over Niles West on Saturday.

Jason Breen earned a pin in :51 at 189, Rob Bigger won at 145 after being at 152 and Sean Carter won by a fall at 125 in 5:35.

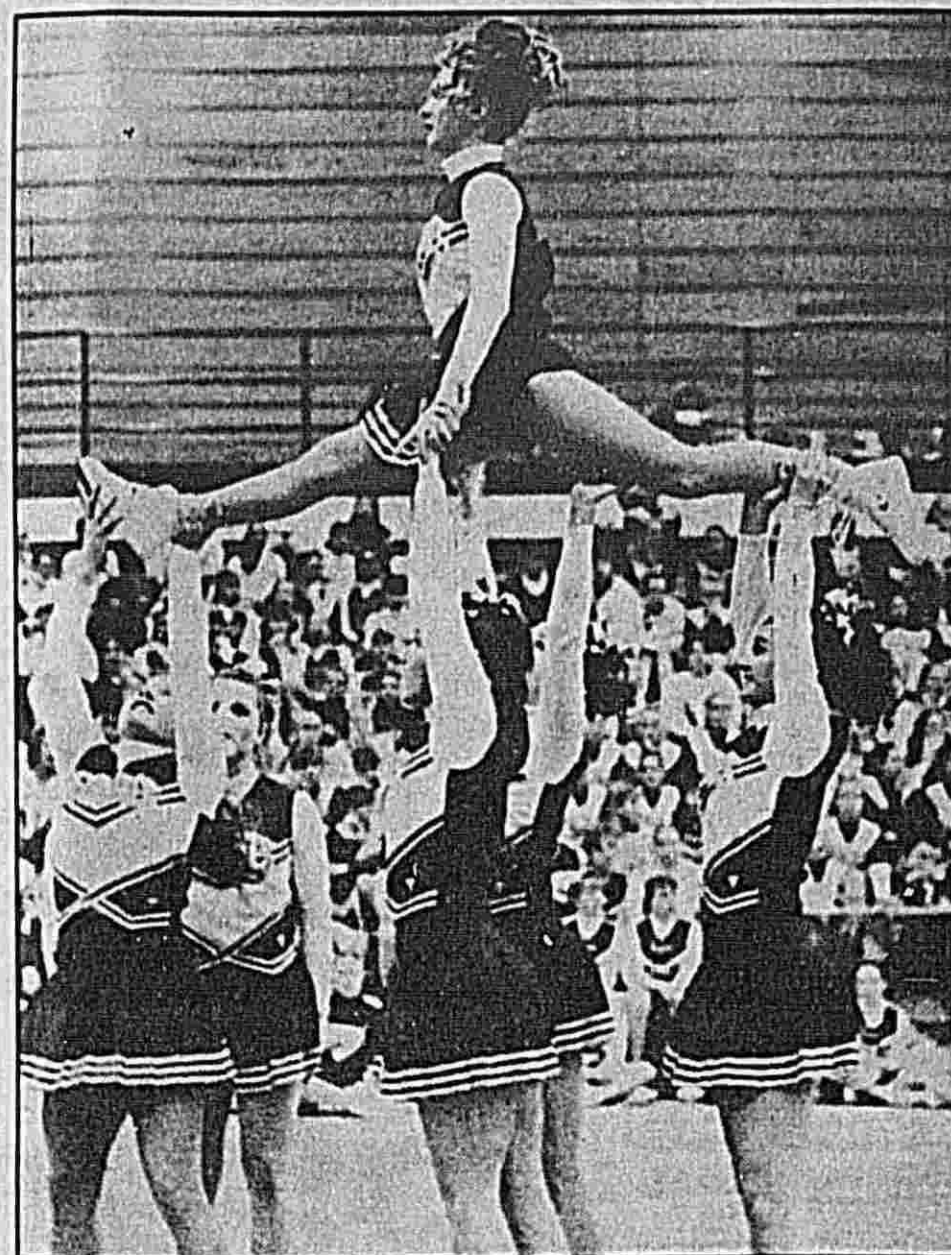

"He used to be 112 but had to go up two weight classes when Andy Burns went to 119. He could do some damage in the conference tournament," Tiffany said of Carter.

Ray earned his 31st win of the season and his 22d pin, in 4:34.

Bill Bigger brings a 16-3 record into the conference tournament at 171 pounds. He has four pins. "He has been pretty steady all year," Tiffany said.

Grant downed Antioch 33-31 and Antioch also lost to Round Lake.

"Grant has some very good wrestlers — give Coach Dave Kapraun and the kids all the credit. We also had some injuries and let the match get away from us," Sieckowski said.

Warren soccer teams see mixed results

U10 Blazers

The Warren United U10 Blazers played another tough game Saturday, dropping a hard-fought 2-1 decision to the Libertyville Renegades.

Libertyville opened up the scoring in the first half, but the Blazers answered with a penalty kick goal off the foot of Scott Shaw. The game remained a 1-1 tie until midway through the second half when the Renegades scored on a deflected shot.

Defensive standouts for Warren were Brennan O'Brien, Kyle Bruett, Alex Dreyer, Adam Kanka and Stephen Hammer. Shaw and Jeffrey Smanz had outstanding games in the goal.

U12 Blazers

The U12 Blazers were also victimized by a Libertyville team, losing 7-3. Collin Glancy scored all three goals for Warren, with assists from Graham Jeep and Mike Cook.

Defensive performances of note were turned in by Gabe Arias, Jeep and Cook, with strong offense provided by Paul Dubler and Garrett Slemmons.

U16 Black Crows

The Black Crows lowered the boom, routing Gurnee 9-0 in a game played in Franklin, Wis. Scott Merzlicker and Gary Pearson tipped their hat tricks to the opposition, scoring three goals each. Matt Kuffel, EO Muntano and Matt Ukena each added a goal.

The shutout came on the defensive strength of Brett Billings, Cory Cybul, Clay Scott and goalkeeper Tommy Wasson.

The Black Crows kept up their winning ways the next day, downing Libertyville 9-2. Kevin Chood stood out with a trio of goals, while Merzlicker and Chris Porter added two apiece. Goals from Matt Johnson and Tony Pellattier rounded out the scoring.

Billings, Cybul, Kuffel and Scott played excellent defense, and contributions from Karl Morrow helped out in both games.

Stars defeat Burlington

The Lindenhurst Stars (girls under 15) indoor soccer team recorded another win with a 4-1 victory over Burlington, Wis.

The scoring began when Erin Sparkman broke across the goal mouth to deflect in a corner kick from Samie Korbak early in the game. Maureen Moran set up the second goal with a crossing pass to Korbak, who turned and hit the far corner with a low, hard shot. Korbak again made a quick turn to beat the Burlington keeper off a nice feed from Emily Ayre.

The Stars' final goal came when Sarah Rimkus scored on a rebound after a hard shot from Moran and an assist from Christy Reese.

Jeni Houghton, in her first game in goal for the Stars, held Burlington scoreless until the final minutes of the game. The Stars' defense was solid with strong play from Becky Fries, Jill Houghton and Natalie Richter.

Lindenhurst indoor begins with win

The Lindenhurst United indoor soccer team (boys U-11) began its season with a win and a loss against two Kenosha teams.

In the first game United faced the Rockers, a U-12 team from Kenosha. Lindenhurst jumped out to an early lead and never looked back as goals were scored by Kaleb Barrett, David Hooks, Ervin Nevitt and Michael Persman. Assists were credited to Anthony Gurske, Joshua Hoth, Chad Nevitt and Nate Rimkus.

Goalkeepers Persman and Ervin Nevitt, along with the stubborn United defense, did a great job shutting down Kenosha, whose only goal came late in the second half with the game out of reach.

Lindenhurst United then met the Kenosha U-11 team. In a fast end-to-end game, United came up just short by a score of 3-2. David Boston tallied the first Lindenhurst goal with a header off a cross from Hoth. Barrett then scored, using a header to re-direct a free kick by Rimkus. Lindenhurst played the last several minutes with their goalkeeper out of the nets to press the attack, but they saw each of their chances go high, wide or off the post as time ran down.

DAN RAMAGE Super Bowl more often than not just a case of super hype

It's almost Super Sunday, our unofficial national holiday.

Maybe it's time we made it official, given that the standards for the making of a national holiday are something less than understandable. Look at it this way — people who have to work during the Super Bowl are far more disgruntled than people who have to work on, say, Pulaski Day.

There's another way to look at it as well. By this Sunday, Bears fans will know all about the Dallas Cowboys' offensive philosophy. Die-hard Packer backers will have broken down the Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive strategy, noting strengths and possible areas of attack. They'll know these things because they want to know and have taken the time to learn them.

But if you ask them about Vladimir Pulaski, the response you'll get from nine out of ten will be "Who?"

It is also sad that youngsters know more about as ridiculous a figure as Delon Sanders than they do about Martin Luther King Jr. Most identify more with the trash-talking, overpaid and over-hyped Sanders than with King, who to many is famous only for a day off of school.

In many ways, the Super Bowl is the same. It is only a game, one of many. It has no historical significance, no national or world-wide implications. Yet it gets more attention in the media than the president's state of the union address, the balanced budget debate in Congress and the peace effort in Bosnia.

Why is the Super Bowl so big? Well, it's easier to market a leisure activity than a lengthy speech, a fiscal crisis or an ethnic war. And, understandably, people want to be entertained. The Super Bowl helps them forget, albeit briefly, the speeches, crises and wars.

It is not my intention to be a wet blanket. I watch the Super Bowl every year — even in basic training in the Army, one of the few compassionate gestures of the cadre was that they allowed us to watch the Super Bowl. I love the Super Bowl (and the World Series, and the Final Four, and the NBA championship, and many other sporting events). I am a sports writer, after all, and to not have a passion for sports would make mine a miserable existence indeed.

Immersed in sports as I am, however, I sometimes wonder if the priorities of a society are slightly off-kilter when a football game takes on such mammoth importance, and things of genuine import are ignored to the point where a huge portion of the populace doesn't even know they exist.

The advertising money generated by this game of games perhaps speaks most of the manufactured importance of the Super Bowl.

Mere seconds of time cost millions of dollars. Couldn't the good folks that make Rold Gold Pretzels (a company that not only spent millions airing its Super Bowl Commercial last year, but spent nearly as much as it took to make "Gone With the Wind" to produce the spot) advertise for 30 less seconds during the game and kick a million bucks toward combating gang violence, political corruption or hunger?

I bet they could, and without a decrease in sales. That's called having your cake and eating it, too. What better cause could there be for a national holiday?

Sit back to hear the fascinating story of how Lake County grew from small European settlements in the 1830s to popular resorts and industries in the 1930s at "Settling on Lake County." The class is offered on Wednesday, Jan. 31, and will be facilitated by Lake County Museum staff.

Realtors serve dinner to homeless

There's no free lunch—somebody always pays. The Lake County Association of Realtors bought dinner and served it in support of P.A.D.S. (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The Member Service Committee of the Realtors Association organizes the annual support by soliciting funds from Realtors in Lake County. The guests received a hot meal of baked ham, macaroni and cheese, green beans, fruit cocktail, dinner rolls and butter, German chocolate cake and apple pie with whipped cream.

Donna Radke, vice president of the Lake County Association of Realtors said that the Association provided hooded sweatshirts for the adults and children's sweatshirts and some teddy bears for the youngsters.

P.A.D.S. and St. Paul's Lutheran also provide clean bedding and a safe atmosphere for 60. Douglas and Galynn McKenzie, who have headed the weekly program for four years believe there are now more families with children in line.

There is no government funding for the program so its continuation depends upon donations from individuals and organizations such as the Lake County Association of Realtors and the congregation of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Eliminate cabin fever with forest preserve programs

If the winter weather has you feeling cooped up, step out into a Lake County forest preserve for some outdoor fun and adventure.

These two sessions are open to adults and families with children 12 years and older. The cost is $4 ($3 for Lake County residents). Reservations are required. Old School Forest Preserve is located on the east side of St. Mary's Road, south of Rte. 176, near Libertyville.

Join forest preserve staff for "Canyons of Bedrock," a trip to Starved Rock State Park in Utica on Saturday, Feb. 24, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. This naturalist-guided, five-mile trek takes hikers along steep trails to see frozen waterfalls and bedrock canyons.

Transportation and snacks will be provided. Hikers should bring their own lunch or purchase lunch at the park. The program is open to adults with children 10 years and older. The cost is $49 ($39 for Lake County residents). Reservations and pre-payment are required. Reservations close Feb. 8.

For more information about any Outdoor Adventure program or to make your reservations, call Forest Preserve Outdoor Adventure Coordinator Jean Weeg at 948-7753, ext. 218.

Applications being accepted for emergency food

Lake County has received a preliminary funding announcement of $170,131 to supplement local emergency food and shelter programs.

For a local organization to be eligible for funding, it must be non-profit or an agency of government; have an accounting system of an approved fiscal agent; have a federal employer identification number; practice non-discrimination; and have a voluntary board if a private voluntary organization.

A local board will determine how the funds awarded to Lake County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations.

For an application or for more information, contact Sally Foster at United Way of Lake County, 816-0063. Applications are due at the United Way office, 2020 O'Plaine Rd., Green Oaks, by noon on Friday, Feb. 5.

Disabled fear ramifications of Medicaid reform

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Those who appreciate the benefits afforded to disabled people through services at the Lake County Center for Independent Living in Mundelein are urging legislators to reconsider their support of Medicaid reform.

The latest proposal from the Republican party recommends slashing $328 billion in the next seven years from Medicaid, Medicare and welfare programs. The main target of Medicaid reform, some fear, will be personal assistance programs that allow the disabled to remain in their own homes instead of being kept in nursing homes that may not provide the quality of life they deserve. Personal assistants come into the home to help disabled people with personal services that present difficulty, such as bathing and dressing.

Among the speakers at a press conference to publicize the looming budget cuts

'People are happier living independently at home in their own communities. More dollars should be reallocated to community-based service.'

for Independent Living was Curtis Robinson, who is confined to a wheelchair. He serves as the second vice president of the Lake County Center for Independent Living and was involved in the creation of the center. Although he now lives independently with some assistance, for a time he was forced to live in a nursing home.

"I had no personal rights. It was like living in a prison," he said. "I had no voice or choice."

With proposed cuts in the Medicaid budget, he said, there will be less money for personal assistance programs such as those offered by the center.

"Home-based care is much more cost-effective than multi-million dollar nursing home care," he said. "It's the right thing to do."

Yolanda Whitehead, the personal assistance coordinator for the center in charge of referrals and recruitment, described the benefits of home services.

"Nursing home care is not always needed for daily living; assistance service is cheaper and far better than institution," she said. "People are happier living independently at home in their own communities. More dollars should be reallocated to community-based service."

Delynn Miller, who is deaf, communicated through a sign language interpreter, explaining the difficulties the deaf face through discrimination.

"Many can't find work with benefits," she said. "Employers don't want to deal with the communication barrier."

Some deaf people don't know how to read and write because of limitations in the educational system and are left to fend for themselves. Cuts in Medicaid may mean deaf people won't be considered disabled, she said.

Save-A-Life extends reach with Canadian help

The province of Ontario, Canada is embracing the life-saving message of the Save-A-Life Foundation.

"We are going international. The Canadian government saw our progress and the programs founder, said.

The three-year-old organization promotes cardiopulmonary resuscitation and first aid skills (CPR and LSFA) as a mandatory requirement for promotion within Canada's education system.

by Spizzirri after her daughter, Christina, died in a Park City auto crash on Labor Day weekend, 1992. The common mission since then is to develop and encourage schools to include CPR education as one of the life supporting first aid skills within their curriculum. State and federal levels in the U.S. have already passed such legislation. A news conference in Toronto will launch the program on March 4.

At that time, the Municipality of Toronto (METRO) Workplace Safety Emergency Training Agency and Save-A-Life-Foundation will announce their alliance. Dignitaries and world renowned medical professionals will be on hand.

Common efforts to promote simplicity, uniformity, and consistency in the application of CPR and first aid skills will be demonstrated through the introduction of programs which include Save-A-Life For Kids, ages 4-12, Bystander Basics,

Hundreds view IDOT exhibit on Rte. 53 extension

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

More than 400 Lake County residents took the Illinois Toll Highway Authority and the Illinois Department of Transportation up on the offer to learn more about the proposed Route 53 extension.

The first of two public meetings was held at Lake County Fairgrounds. For six hours, residents had a chance to view an exhibit on the path of Route 53 extension through six zones of central Lake County, view slide shows and give input.

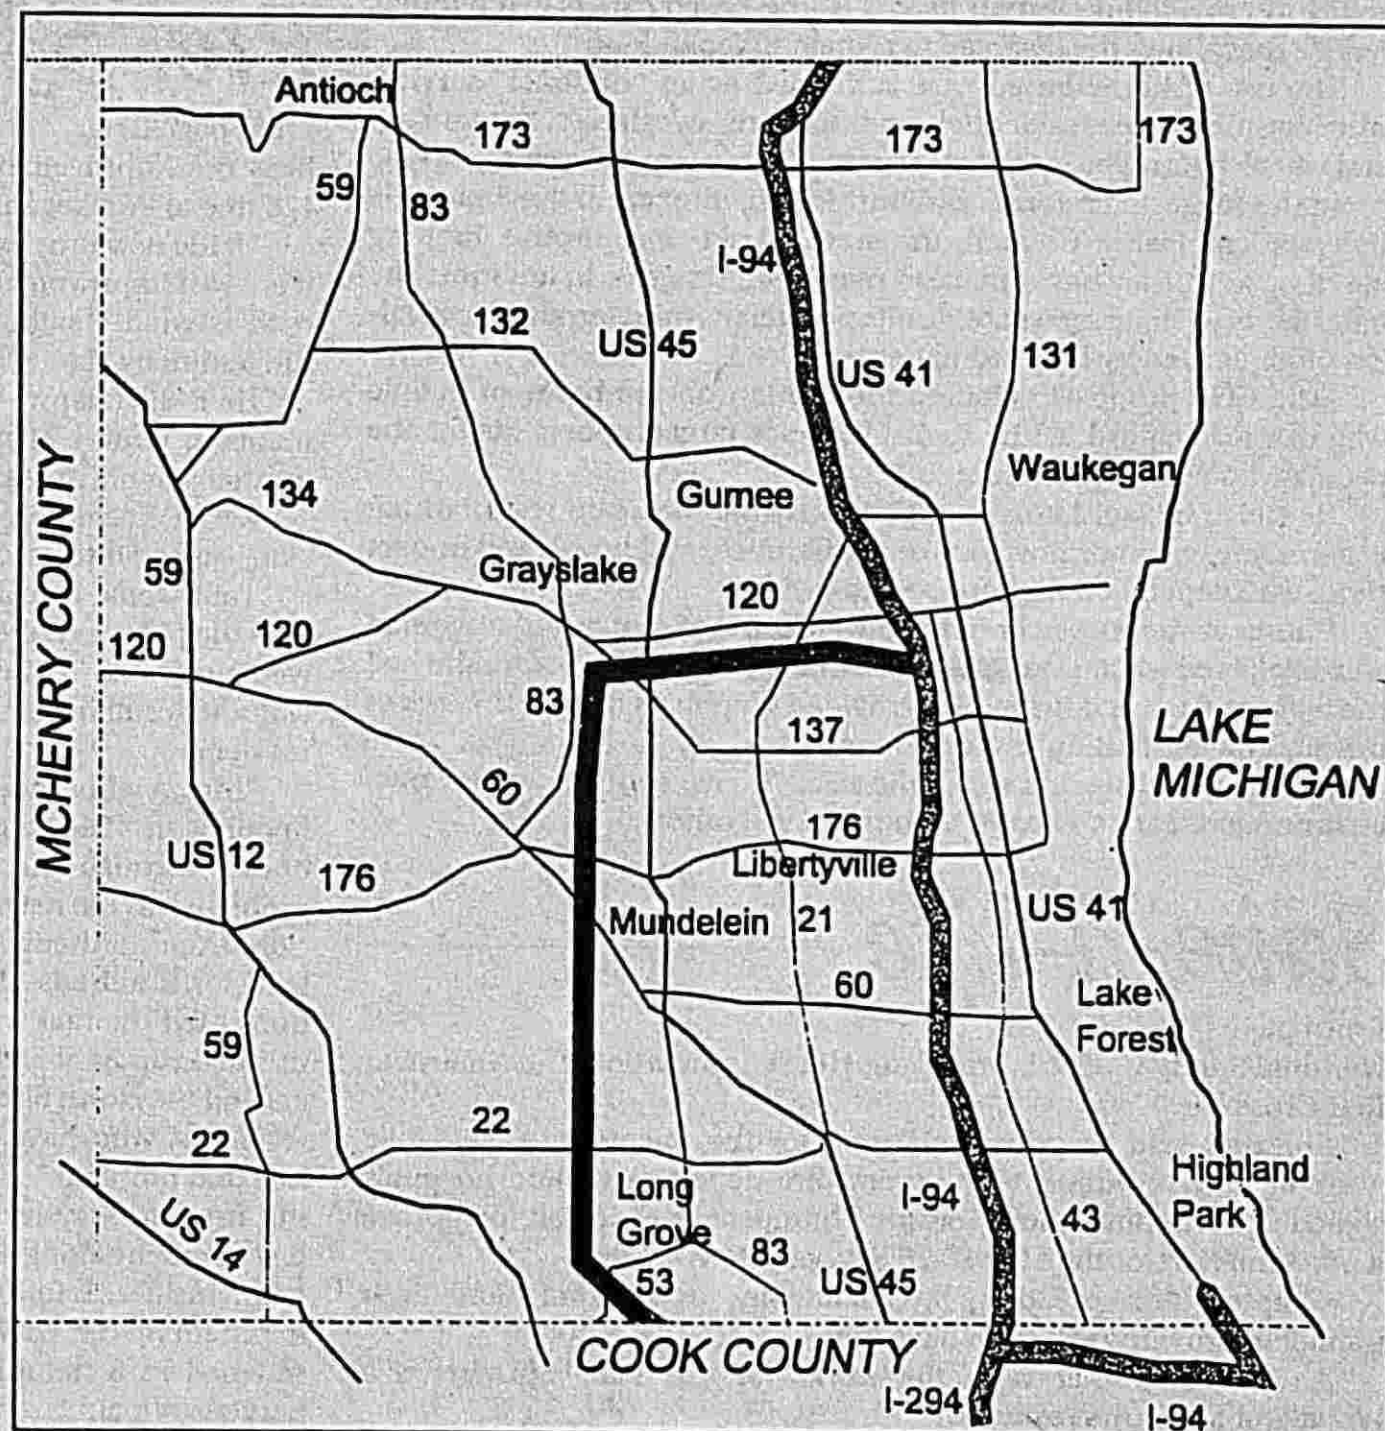

"It will definitely be a negative impact for Lake County. It will bring a more urban lifestyle and promote growth in Lake County," Mike Moorman of Round Lake Beach said.

"There would be wetland destruction and problems with flooding, ground and surface water. The needless displacement of wildlife is a heavy price to pay for the unproven promise of lessening traffic," Virginia Vasek of Mundelein said.

She mentioned the impact on the Indian Creek complex as well as wetlands near Lake-Cook and Midlothian roads would be "irreplaceable according to IDOT's own consultants."

"Alignment shifts are proposed at Buffalo Creek, Indian Creek and Squaw Creek watersheds to avoid or minimize impacts to environmentally sensitive areas that were not recognized by state and federal law in the 1960s," according to IDOT and Illinois Toll Authority.

Rinaolo urges Congressman Porter for finance reform

Tenth District GOP candidate Richard Rinaolo is calling on his Republican Primary opponent, Congressman John Porter, to endorse comprehensive campaign finance reform now—or accept part of the blame for the present system.

Rinaolo, who is challenging the veteran congressman in the March primary, says the Congressman has ignored his request to take action on the matter. He charges Porter accepted more than $240,000 from more than 150 special interest PACS since 1993.

"The Congressman has accepted well under $200,000 in PAC contributions during 1993 and 1994," said Dave Kohn, press secretary. "The vast majority of those funds came from major industries within the 10th district such as Abbott, Baxter and others."

The Porter campaign feels the statement is "a transparent campaign ploy" and that Rinaolo is trying to generate an issue in a campaign that has none.

"He is interested in advancing reform that benefits his campaign," said Kohn. "Seventy percent of the Congressman's fundraising comes from individuals."

Rinaolo is encouraging Porter to sign on as co-sponsor on a Campaign Finance Reform Act being sponsored by freshman legislator Linda Smith of Washington. The proposed act, which is in the committee stage, would ban political action committee contributions and also require members of Congress to raise 60 percent of their finances within their district.

"By barring out-of-district PAC money, my proposal would help ensure that our next congressman will represent 10th District residents and not the special interest groups in Washington," Rinaolo said. "I'm announcing my support for the campaign finance reform act."

Kohn said Porter and other Congressmen do not generally endorse bills until they are on the house floor but added that Porter's past donations would meet the terms of the bill in raising money within the district.

Rinaolo is running for Congress as a staunch support of the Republican Reform agenda, especially the Republican Contract with America. He feels Porter has alienated many Republicans by voting against provisions of the Contract.

"The contract was to bring the items to the floor of Congress for discussion," said Kohn. "The Congressman supported those discussions—therefore he supported the Contract with America."

Rinaolo says he will be calling on the Congressman for a public debate before the primary election.

Reform

"If you were to become deaf tomorrow," she asked, "would you be able to keep your job?"

As the manager of advocacy at the center, Barbara Anderson helps the disabled receive maximum benefit from services. She believes any reform should focus on the system, not the people who use the system. She cited an example of two blacksmiths, one who spent time on shaping horseshoes for each animal, and another who quickly shod each horse and then trimmed the hooves. The horses in the second group, she said, quickly became lame.

"What is going to be the best in the long run for each person?" she asked, adding that the people who use Medicaid are the ones who know the answer.

"They know what's right and what's wrong, what needs to be changed," she said. "If you take part in it you understand it. Community-based service is the only way to go. It costs twice as much to keep someone in a nursing home," she explained. "Most people don't need skilled nursing; they need the option of home-based care."

Everybody has things they can't do for themselves, she said. Merchants provide goods and services for those who don't have the ability to provide for all their needs. Home-based care is just another service that allows the disabled to remain independent.

The use of home based-care is defined as an "optional" service, which also includes residential modifications, eyeglasses, dental care and wheelchair replacement more often than every two years.

In the suggested reform, said Burt Pusch, director of the Statewide Independent Living Council, the state would only receive funding based on what they have spent on mandated services. In addition, the inflexibility of "managed care" limits physicians on referrals to specialists often needed by disabled patients.

"The GOP proposal balances the burden on the backs of people who can least afford it," he said. "They are targeting benefits for the people who will vote for them."

He called on legislators to explain why the Medicaid restructuring is necessary, whether it will make a difference, and how it will impact those who depend on the services it provides.

Guests at the news conference watched a videotape of a woman who explained what it was like to live in a nursing home before she had the option of assisted living. She provided graphic details on the lack of privacy and inattention to cleanliness.

"Now I feel clean and safe," she said. "I have control over my own environment. I am no longer at the mercy of others."

Spizzirri said response is strong for the upcoming Save-A-Life week in May in Illinois with several fire departments and hospitals signed up. Wisconsin Gov. Tommy Thompson is expected to approve a proclamation for the May 17-25 Save-A-Life Week.

Chapters are spreading internationally, as Bermuda and each Canadian province will soon have one.

An awards dinner is in the works for this fall. Spizzirri is a Woodland Meadows resident.

County Board appoints new purchasing director

Lake County Board members appointed Joni F. Young as the new director of purchasing today at a special-call meeting in Waukegan.

Young most recently has been an independent consultant in Syracuse, New York, where she also had been executive director of market match with the Metropolitan Development Association. Prior to that, Young was commissioner of purchase for the city of Syracuse.

"We're very pleased to have her join our administration," said Chairman of the Board Robert Depke. "She has 20 years of progressive experience in local government purchasing and was the best candidate in a nation-wide search. We're confident that she will bring innovative ideas to Lake County."

Young earned a masters degree in public administration from Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, and a bachelors degree in urban studies from Syracuse University. Young is a member of the National Association of Purchasing Management and has been a certified purchasing manager since 1981.

Young also belongs to: the Association of Municipal Purchasing Officials; Purchase Council for State and Local Governments; Purchasing Management Association of Greater Syracuse, director; United Way of Central New York, director; and Syracuse University, adjunct professor.

Young said, "I am impressed with the Lake County administration and the community. I look forward to working with the departments to best meet their needs and to develop systems to provide efficient procurement services throughout the county."

likes the improvements which would keep Route 120 free to Waukegan.

"If the new proposal ends up being the final one, it is a vast improvement. Elimination of the frontage road is what Heather Ridge was concerned with," Jim Simmen said.

He is also happy with planned signal improvements at Routes 21 and 120, as the subdivision is located just north of the intersection.

Karen Keefe of Wildwood opposes the extension, expected to cost $615 million.

Tolls would be collected at certain interchanges with the plaza at Winchester Road. Some 60 acres of wetland would be impacted, 1,200 feet of right of way and result in displacement of 50 businesses and residences.

"My neighborhood in Wildwood experienced flooding in 1993. Storm water entered residents' homes through the sanitary sewers. Part of the problem was the new development at Routes 45 and 120 at the northeast corner. Paving of that private land for hundreds of apartments and a strip mall prevented the rain water from being absorbed and this development is connected to our sanitary sewers and the North Shore Sanitary District. However, residents, who have lived here for 35 years never had that problem," Keefe said. "We own a contracting firm in Grayslake and additional commercial development along Route 53 would increase business. Business is fine now and I am willing to give up a potential increase to be sure storm water is retained in a natural setting and natural wildlife habitats remain."

Jack Martin of Libertyville pointed to the benefits of the Route 53 extension.

"Corporate America has come to Lake County and with it the people and the jobs and economic opportunity," he said.

Martin, a 55-year resident of Lake County, said without Route 53, the county would be in gridlock in perpetuity.

"By bringing in a major road, you will alleviate traffic on the aerial roads," Martin said.

Most people who oppose Route 53 extension are the ones who live close to the highway, which is understandable concern, he said.

Under the Illinois Toll Authority timeline, agencies reviewing the plan include the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Environmental Protection Agency, Fish and Wildlife Service and Illinois Department of Natural Resources and coordination with the Corridor Planning Council, a group which considers standards suggested by 10 municipalities. The EIS statement will be reviewed through this fall, circulating an EIS public hearing in 1996-97 winter; completion of the study in 1997.

A Route 12 plan was considered but not preferred.

The arterial improvement plan includes 420 miles of lane improvements to existing roads. Lake-Cook Road would have a new link at Route 83 to four lanes. Routes 59 and 176 would be widened. Further evaluation is required. A planned commuter line of Wisconsin Central is included in regional transportation plans which are complemented by increased Pace bus lines.

AT A GLANCE

RL man receives 15 years

ROUND LAKE—Scottie Joe Parker, alias Gary Michael Reedy, has been sentenced to 15 years in state prison for shooting his wife of eight years. The wife, Kay Clark Reedy, survived being shot three times. Parker shot Clark-Reedy, a member of the U.S. Navy, for having an affair while she was stationed in Guantanamo Bay Cuba. The minimum sentence Parker could have received was six years. The maximum was 30 years, according to his defense attorney, Chuck Smith.

Matney guilty in murder

HAINESVILLE—For nearly a week, jurors heard testimony which led to the conviction of a Hainesville man charged with first degree murder. Before midnight Jan. 12 the jury returned from deliberations with a guilty verdict for Gary Matney, 34, who has been jailed since last summer for murdering an acquaintance. Prosecutors explained, on July 7, Matney dragged the unconscious body of 47-year-old Ronald Pecore to some railroad tracks between routes 120 and 134 in Hainesville where he was run over by a commuter train in the wee hours of the morning. Sentencing will take place next month, according to Lake County Assistant States Attorney Jeffrey Pavletic.

Gurnee picks deputy fire chief

GURNEE—A fire service professional with more than 20 years of experience is now the new deputy fire chief in Gurnee. Fred N. Friedl III began his duties Tuesday after Gurnee trustees confirmed his appointment with a unanimous vote. He served 22 years in Wood Dale's fire department, seven as chief. His Gurnee salary is $65,500.

Superintendent search

VERNON HILLS—After the first wave of interviews, the Hawthorn School District 73 Board of Education narrowed the list to three candidates as finalists for the open superintendent seat. The board hired a Highland Park consulting firm to conduct the search. The firm gave the board six candidates to interview out of an applicant pool of 73 candidates. Board President Mary Anne Hannigan said the three finalists were going to visit the Vernon Hills schools before a final decision was going to be made. Hannigan said the board expects to announce a new superintendent some time next month. The seat became vacant after former Superintendent Ed Noyes resigned last summer amidst criticisms about the district's financial situation. Business Manager Jess Porres agreed to serve as interim superintendent for a one-year term while the board searched for a new candidate.

Health company buys site

ANTIOCH—In a much-anticipated deal, Centegra Health Systems closed on its hopes to purchase a 6-acre parcel behind downtown Antioch. Centegra Health Systems, the parent organization for Memorial Medical Center in Woodstock and Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry, aims to build a variety of health offices. Village officials praised the move as a catalyst to redevelop behind the historic downtown section. Centegra purchased the site for $330,000. The site is part of the Antioch tax redevelopment financing (TIF) district to redevelop areas of downtown.

Business park proposed

LINDENHURST—Trustees agreed to send a proposal for a possible combination business park and residential development to the Plan Commission for review. The site is a 88-acre parcel 900 feet south of Sand Lake Road adjacent to Rte. 45. The Baxter Group presented three possible scenarios for the site. The original plan called for a 36-acre business park in the southern portion and a combination townhome and apartment complex to the north. Another option is the business park with townhomes and no apartments. The final option is an upscale residential piece with approximately 125-150 units. The board directed the Plan Commission to study the options and give the board a preference.

Staff ponders station design

MUNDELEIN—Members of the Public Works Committee favored a 1,000-square-foot design for the Metra commuter station at Archer and Division streets. Architects Sutter and Schroeder were commissioned to provide three new designs for structures of 800, 1,000 and 1,200 square feet. The smaller two designs provide for a waiting area and maintenance closet only, with no amenities. The largest contains a concession area as well as restroom facilities. The general consensus was that the smaller design, with room for expansion, was more cost-effective. The village board will vote on the matter Feb. 5. Because of the delay in design approval, the station is not expected to be operational until December.

Sidewalk to loop Lake Zurich

LAKE ZURICH—The village will embark on a sidewalk construction plan this spring to complete a pedestrian walkway around the village's lake. A grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation will reimburse 80 percent of the $217,500 cost of the project to the village. Plans call for installing 1.5 miles of sidewalk around the southern and western edges of the lake, creating a pedestrian loop that will go along major streets, residential areas and through Paulus Park.

Video publicizes Dist. 95

LAKE ZURICH—A video publicizing Lake Zurich schools has been created by Lake Zurich Unit District 95 as a way to showcase itself to people interested in moving to the area. The 15-minute video was produced, written and narrated by individuals with connections to the district, and shows students at all grade levels working inside and out of the classroom, as well as teachers and administrators talking about the quality of education in the district's schools. Copies of the video will be made available at all eight district school buildings, as well as to area Realtors and to the Lake Zurich Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hainesville to patrol Third Lake

THIRD LAKE—Hainesville police will be patrolling the streets of Third Lake next week. Third Lake trustees have reached agreement with the Hainesville Police Department which will allow the Hainesville police to enforce Third Lake ordinances. The first day of the agreement is Feb. 1. The agreement allows either party to withdraw if it is not working out.

Baseball agreement postponed

LAKE VILLA—After nearly two years of negotiations, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board sent an intergovernmental agreement with the Village of Lake Villa for the construction and use of baseball fields by the Little League back to committee. Questions arose during the final finance committee meeting which postponed approving the agreement until additional questions were answered. Forest Preserve Commissioners are said to be haggling over setting a consistent policy for use of forest preserve land. No time frame was set for resolving the questions and bringing the agreement back for vote.

Students cry 'censorship'

LIBERTYVILLE—Libertyville High School students protesting the administration's decision to cancel the spring play "Dark of the Moon," presented their concerns to the Board of Education. The students said they felt the cancellation was censorship and protested the disciplinary action they said was taken against an English teacher when he read a letter of protest from a parent concerning the negative aspects of the play to the students. The administration said it canceled the play (about a witch boy who falls in love with a human girl), after receiving objections to the content from parents and community members.

IDOT plans public hearing on Rte. 132

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, Jan. 30, from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Grand Palace Restaurant, 5572 Grand Ave. in Gurnee.

There will be a presentation on the proposed plans for improving IL 132 from IL 83 to I-94 and IL 83 from IL 173 in Lake County. The proposed improvement is part of the Strategic Regional Arterial (SRA) System which is a plan that designates a system of strategic regional arterials to supplement the expressway system. The SRA consists of existing roads that are considered for increased capacity improvements which can range from building connecting links to widening of the roads.

An audio visual presentation will be shown every half hour beginning at 2 p.m. with the last showing at 6:30 p.m. Exhibits will also be on display. IDOT personnel will be available to discuss the project and answer questions.

The hearing will be accessible to handicapped persons. Anyone needing special assistance or more information should contact IDOT's Rich Starr at 705-4095. Persons planning to attend who will need a sign language interpreter or similar accommodations should call the department's TTY number, 705-4710, at least five days before the hearing.

Democratic futility undercuts debate

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon is headed for an academic sanctuary. U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun has come out four square to reduce train whistle tooting in the suburbs. While his city council resembles a profiteering third world legislature, Mayor Daley spends more and more time setting up dominoes for Chicago fat cats.

That pretty much sums up Democratic leadership in Illinois. Add to that a corrupt White House and an intellectually bankrupt Congressional contingent, a pretty dismal picture emerges for the party of Jefferson and Jackson.

In Lake County, the Democratic picture isn't much different. Party Chairman Terry Link, weary of trying to dredge up competition for the Republican juggernaut, has decided to run for office himself, seeking a seat in the State Senate. The Democrats currently have only one elected official, State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash, who represents a liberal North Shore district.

At the county level, candidate quality begins and ends with Mary Ellen Vanderventer, long-time aide in the Democratic County Clerk administration of Linda Hess, who is running for Recorder of Deeds. The Democratic contingent on the County Board is Democratic in name only. David Stolman, representing Vernon Hills and Buffalo Grove, has switched parties. Incumbents Debbie Halas (Waukegan), Angelo Kyle (North Chicago), Carol Spielman (Highland Park) and Robert Buhai (Highland Park), often vote with the Republican majority so they offer none of the checks and balances expected from an opposite party.

What remains a local political mystery is the fact that the Democrats haven't been able to capitalize on controversies seething on the County Board involving government catering to the builder-developer lobby, preservation of open space, environmental protection and hell-bent growth, and development policies that are bankrupting our public schools while destroying Lake County's country character.

In a sense, independent Republicans are attempting to fill a vacuum in the political debate historically provided by thoughtful, energetic Democratic partisanship. Their voices tend to be drowned out when national issues overshadow local problems.

In a system of government based on two opposing voices speaking to the greater good, the public suffers when only one voice is heard.

For all practical purposes, that is the situation in Lake County today. And that is not good.

Burger bashing offers tasty tiff

There's only one community in Lake County that would look with askance at becoming another link in the world's longest hamburger chain or have the temerity to take on the mighty McDonald's Corp.

Lake Forest is ready to shell out up to $150,000 in legal fees for the right of dictating how Big Macs will be served at a shopping mall on the west end of town. McDonald's fries have been singed over Lake Forest's demands that there be no drive-through or bright lights. The Big Mac in Oakbrook has repented with Lake County Circuit Court action seeking a court order to allow a drive-through and permission to bypass the city's hallowed Building Review Board.

A broad-minded view was expressed that Lake Forest would have been better off last November approving a "different kind" of McDonald's made out of stone, minus the drive-through and sans bright signs instead of rejecting an agreed to design by a 5-3 vote. Now the entire rath of the vaunted fast food empire, not to mention a phalanx of corporate attorneys, is about to come down on Lake Forest.

But Lake Forest isn't phased. Of the court fight, Mayor Rhett Butler observed coolly, "We rather expected it."

So it appears this Big Mac attack is for real. Pass the ketchup, but hold the pickles.

Kustra, Salvi match lacking title fervor

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Like a pair of welterweights, Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra and State Rep. Al Salvi are circling the ring, jabbing and bobbing, but not throwing any heavy punches in their contest for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Is this a match that will go full length? Could be, both Kustra and Salvi are behaving like cautious fighters, trying to pile up points while avoiding knock out punches.

Going into the fray with a finesse strategy makes sense for Kustra. He's got the mighty GOP machine in his corner. Kustra's handlers are party biggies who have sent their warriors into battle before. Kustra's shot at the title is based on party loyalty and a record of wins on the "club fight" circuit.

But what kind of strategy is Salvi employing? In boxing parlance, he's the "kid from leftfield," (no, in Salvi's case, make that rightfield), the guy you'd expect to be crowding his opponent, body punching, anxious for the opportunity to throw a haymaker.

So far, the Salvi-Kustra match has been classical sparring, long on the manly art of self defense, but short on the action and excitement to be expected in a major prize fight. Salvi may yet start throwing punches after conserving his energy since last September, but if Al's strategy is to win without a knock down, it probably has something to do with the backers in his corner.

Salvi could be piling up a winning point total with "quiet conservatives," the anti-abortion crowd, Christian fundamentalists, some trial lawyers and support of independent Republicans who yearn for fresh faces with new ideas in the GOP ranks, all the kind of people who go to the polls, but don't beat their chests about it.

Considering this strategy, Salvi has a good chance for a decision in the 10 round March 19 primary. With a prelim win under his belt, the young Lake County Republican can go either way in the 15 round main event in November, box his way again to a decision or go for an early round KO.

School ship off course

Editor:

There have been a number of critics of the Dec. 9 OBE (Outcome Based Education) conference in Arlington Heights. I, too, attended and came away with a quite different impression.

Prior to becoming a U.S. Congressman, Phil Crane was a college history professor. I can appreciate his disappointment in discovering his daughter was "college educated" without ever having been taught when the Civil War took place. She does not know because schools no longer teach it. The ideas and contributions of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Thomas Jefferson have been eliminated from the classroom and replaced with political correctness and multi-culturalism.

Public education is like a ship that has been off course. Rather than making a course correction, OBE proponents want to transfer its passengers to life rafts and sink the ship.

Many people are asking, "What is OBE?" The problem in answering rests in how proponents have cleverly packaged this nonsense in attractively sculpted rhetoric such as that parroted by OBE supporters, "All students can succeed." The question is what is meant by success. If the goal is for each and every student to succeed, it follows the standard of success must be achievable by the poorest student in any given grouping.

Let's say the measure of success in an eighth grade basketball team is to slam dunk. The basket height must then be set to allow the smallest player to "succeed." Naturally, the standard would then vary from team to team and every game would find the basket height changing to accommodate players who likely would have minimal impact upon the outcome of the game.

How would such a program prepare players for the future? It sounds good to state the goal in a reading class is to have every student achieve an A. But the simple truth is the standard for such a goal to be met must be illiteracy!

The focus of OBE within published material is See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Baseball, politics, take forefront during primary season

Party Lines, Lakeland Newspapers' column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

After nearly two years of negotiations many forest preserve commissioners expected little or no discussion on the approval of an intergovernmental agreement with the Village of Lake Villa last week.

The agreement would allow the village to build and operate baseball fields at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve for use by the Little League.

The matter, however, was referred back to committee for further discussion following concerns raised in the finance committee.

Publicly, Forest Preserve Commissioners said the issue was being reexamined because commissioners wanted to present a consistent policy on the use of forest preserve property by outside organizations engaging in more active recreation and who may make profit.

Schmidt

Fair comparison or not, some commissioners feel the board must set a consistent policy on dealing with such issues.

Privately, one has to wonder, if the move to send the agreement back to committee was seen as an opportunity to put incumbent Suzi Schmidt in her place.

Schmidt, a self-professed environmentalist, has often voted against the majority of the board on several issues related to development.

It's no secret the Lake County Republican Party would like to see her challenger Michelle Wolf, a Lake Villa Township Trustee, upset Schmidt in the election.

After all, if she can't even bring home an agreement for kids to play ball in the forest preserve after two years of negotiations, maybe she is ineffective.

Or, maybe, just maybe, the primary season is affecting the judgment of Forest Preserve Commissioners.

Sign of the Times—An "I Like Mike" sign was spotted tacked to a telephone pole along Route 22 near Salem Lake Drive. Is Michael Salvi going after Verna Clayton's generation to unseat her as State Rep. in Dist. 51?

Three-acre woods—Mundelein Village Administrator Ken Marabella reported Fremont Public Library Director Kelly Krieg-Sigman has made inquiries about when the library might receive the 3-acre parcel from the Town & Country developers. The property, located just south of Mechanics Grove School, was designated specifically for the library in the development agreement. The library is undergoing a massive renovation in the existing building, using funds from a referendum approved in 1994. Is a building referendum on the horizon?

Area code juggle—With the area code in the north and northwest suburbs changing this past week, Ameritech had its spokespeople out in full-force, with reports all over the news media and television newscasts. One report showed an Ameritech employee affixing a sticker with the new area code over the former area code at a pay phone on the street. The reporter said this would be happening at all company owned pay phones. Well, not exactly everywhere. The pay phone on the first floor at Lake Zurich Village Hall still sports the 312 area code not in use in the community since 1989. Way to keep on your toes, Ameritech.

Ode to Route 53: The debate over whether or not Route 53 should be extended through central Lake County in an 18-mile stretch to cost $615 million brings out emotions on both sides. Karen Keefe, a Wildwood resident, has put her anti-extension views to poetry.

"Let the birds fly;
Trumpet swans are here;
Mallards, Canadian Geese and Coots;
Northern Orioles, Scarlet Tanagers Cardinals, Hawks, Owles,
in my neighborhood live;
Let the bugs live for them billions of fireflies dam mosquitoes, shiny June Bugs
Walking sticks for my garden butterflies and moths bees, ants, grasshoppers, flies.

Do we have to kill the deer, the coyote,
the fox, the raccoon, the rabbit, chipmunk, skunk, muskrat, ground hog, opossum and mouse

Like we killed the wolf, bear, eagle and buffalo," Keefe penned.

Clayton named Outstanding Public Servant—State Rep. Verna Clayton (R-Buffalo Grove) is the recipient of the Lake Zurich Chamber of Commerce "Out-standing Public Servant Award." Clayton received the award Jan. 13 during the "Evening of Elegance Centennial Dinner."

Clayton

Mundelein eliminates washroom facilities. Trustees Ray Sample and Jeffrey Hayes are among those who look at it as a cost-saving measure, noting there are bathrooms on the trains. Representatives of the Mundelein Pride downtown revitalization group, however, objected to the lack of facilities in the station, citing health and safety reasons in addition to the convenience of commuters who we suppose would have to visit one of the service stations around the corner.

Mayor back at work—Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk missed the last committee meeting after resting from surgery which helped clear his nasal passages. "I feel 2,010 percent better," Baumunk declared. Baumunk was back presiding over the board meeting and said his strength is back.

not to teach facts and ideas but rather to encourage cooperation with others, to reveal the ethical impact of science on future life, and to understand the history and nature of prejudice. OBE exchanges textbooks for computers, with facts and ideas being replaced by politically correct outcomes. In OBE the element of time is eliminated. Students are allowed to take tests over and over until they pass.

The OBE conference did a great service to the citizens of Illinois in exposing the dangers of OBE and its first cousin, the Goals 2000 initiative. Both seek to destroy traditional education and already have succeeded in doing so in many other states. OBE is now making headway in Illinois. OBE is quietly being unleashed into the Illinois education system, having been embraced by Joseph Spagnolo, the Illinois State Superintendent of Education.

His position is clearly outlined in his 1995 concept paper, "The Illinois Quality Schools Initiative" which is essentially devoid of academic pursuits of learning facts and ideas. Schools have already begun to see the early effects of OBE indoctrination in having to waste countless hours to file reports with the state on how they are achieving the recently mandated "state outcomes." This robs teachers of valuable class time with their students.

To be sure education needs improvement. Math scores of 1994 eighth graders find the U.S. ranking 14th in the world behind such academic giants as Hungary, Ireland, Spain and Slovenia. This is the direct result of having moved away from the basics. Teaching tolerance and political correctness is no substitute for the basic educational format which has made America great. OBE will not change things for the better.

AIDS and the smoke screen
Editor:

After perusing the coverage in the news media and examining public policy and government mandates. It seems that the tobacco industry, cigarette smokers and second-hand smoke have been demonized and portrayed as the plague which threatens to destroy us all.

I have never smoked cigarettes and applaud the efforts made to educate children and adults to the dangers of smoking. And we should continue to do so. However, there is a greater threat to human life—AIDS.

AIDS was first diagnosed in Los Angeles in 1978 and by 1993, AIDS became the number one killer of people between the ages of 25 and 44. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, a government health agency, also declared that this infection will rise for young children and women. Is it a coincidence that infectious diseases pose a new risk of global epidemics?

There is no cure for AIDS. If infected, your life expectancy is five to 10 years.

Should we be more alarmed by these facts? If so, should there be a responsible and reasonable policy to control the further spread of this disease? The AIDS lobby states that condoms is the answer. Or is it all smoke?

Where's the berm?
Editor:

That's what Clara Peller would have asked if she bought a home from Cambridge Homes in Timber Creek. In early presentations to the Village of Libertyville, Builder Richard Brown promised that Timber Creek would be the "Crown Jewel" of his work in Libertyville. Well, the crown is missing one very important jewel and that is the landscaped berm that would have separated Timber Creek from Peterson Road and the recently approved Butterfield Square Shopping Center.

The Libertyville Village Board is currently looking into the theft of this jewel. Let's determine the exact technical reason that the berm was dropped from the final plan. If there is a valid reason, then ask,

"Where is the landscaping that was supposed to be on the berm?" So far all that exists there is a rather plain fence that separates the homeowners from 20' feet of grassy weeds. The fence prevents the homeowners from planting and maintaining the grassy area. What's needed is a mixed stand of hardwood and pine trees fitting of the name "Timber Creek."

Wisely spend tax money
Editor:

I am proud to say that I am one of the County Board members who voted "no" to both the expenditure for the county's new logo and the Lincoln Memorial. I have many reasons why, which I need to explain.

True, the county needs a new logo. Yes, it will be nice to finish the Lincoln Memorial which was started over 30 years ago. But we as board members must spend the taxpayers' money wisely, especially in times when everyone is tightening their belts. Why can't government?

Not one of these projects went out for bid, so are we getting the best deal for our taxpayers? The logo could have been created from within the county either through a contest, a qualified graphic artist, or one of our departments. I felt we had the expertise in-house to create a logo that best represents our vision of our name sake. Possibly that $104,000 could have been better utilized for funding of the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation Dist., which is trying to protect our name sake, "Lake County," home of our number one natural resource. This department did not receive the $25,000 funding from the county this year which they asked for. Unfortunately the line item was eliminated from our budget.

The $29,000 for finishing the Lincoln Memorial could have come through donations. The original statue was furnished through private donations—why couldn't the completion of it? The Lincoln Memorial waited over 30 years for completion and with all the problems going on in the county, in my opinion, did not warrant priority spending.

Recently I had pushed for a sewer study for my district; a study which will give thousands of my constituents "firm figures" on the cost of running sewers to their homes. It took months before the board was ready to vote on the study, which will increase water quality and protect our name sake, "Lake County." I found it interesting that we haggled over this environmental issue for six months and finally accepted a $28,000 bid. But within less than a week, the board was asked to approve over $135,000 in expenditures without going out to bid! I am just trying to stay consistent on expenditures, especially since it's the taxpayers' money. That is why I voted "no."

And to the many people who called me on this issue, thank you for your continued support.

Judy Martini
Lake County Board Member, Dist. 1

Don't be 'A day late and a Dollar Short'

Q: My husband and I have recently retired and are being bombarded by insurance agents trying to sell us nursing home insurance. Is this coverage necessary?

A: Be aware that this can be a very lucrative market for salespeople, some of whom do not have your best interests at heart. There is a story I would like to share with you before I answer your question.

An attorney, who is also a friend of mine, called me for advice about an elderly couple in Florida whose wife needed professional long-term nursing care. The problem was that under the State of Florida Medicaid rules, the couple had too much in the way of assets, did not qualify for Medicaid assistance and, therefore, would have to pay the cost of the nursing home facility which was $36,000 per year.

Here's the real problem. They had a home that was paid for and $160,000 in liquid assets which provided them interest income, when combined with their social security, was just enough to live on each month. These are the type of people who get hit the hardest because they have too much to qualify for Medicaid and yet not enough in assets to pay for nursing home care—which could amount to thousands of dollars.

Then I explained some of their options, none of which are very palatable when you're in your late 60s. They could:

- Pay for the nursing home care out of their own pocket and then when they run out of money apply for Medicaid.
- Rely on friends and family members to help take care of the wife at home.
- Apply for a reverse mortgage which will pay them a monthly income against the equity in their home.
- Look at selling their home and moving to a Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC), which is a retirement facility for which the resident usually pays a one-time entrance fee and monthly fees (which at some facilities are discontinued upon entry to the CCRC). The CCRC then provides shelter and defined services which may include nursing home services.

• Or, if they are willing to take an aggressive approach, which may be challenged by Medicaid and the State, they could try transferring or hiding assets through gifts, trusts, and foundations.

The attorney asked me, "Okay, what's the bottom line?" I replied, "The bottom line is, unfortunately, they're a day late and a dollar short. Because of changes in Medicaid, the government looks back three to five years for transfers of assets to family members and various trusts. If they had only done some basic planning before this happened, I could be giving you a different answer. These people don't have a lot of choices."

Granted, nobody wants to discuss death, old age, or illness but yet there is a 100 percent chance these things will come to pass. It never ceases to amaze me that people will insure their home for 40 years without every having a claim; but when it comes to "insuring their financial future" through proper planning, they'll spend more time planning a vacation to Disney World.

So in answer to your question, is nursing home insurance necessary? No, you don't have to have it, it's not required by law, and nobody can sue you if you don't have it. Only keep this in mind, you and your family will be the ones to suffer the consequences. And the consequences will depend on you, your situation, and what kind of lifestyle you're willing to have in your later years.

There is no easy answer and before you sit down with a trusted advisor, who can help you sort through these issues, you need to ask yourself these questions.

- Do I already have some coverage available? (Check your Medicare supplement plan or any recent life insurance policy that may have some type of nursing home coverage riders or accelerated death benefits).
- Do I belong to a church, religious organization, or fraternal group that provides these types of benefits or facilities?
- Do I have assets I need to protect?
- Do I care if my children or grandchildren inherit any of my estate?
- Can I afford to pay the nursing home insurance premiums, which can run anywhere from $600 to $3,000 per year?
- Can I afford to pay for private nursing home care?
- Are there any nursing homes near my family that accept Medicaid patients? If so, would I want to live there?
- Does it bother me to accept Medicaid (welfare) and become dependent on the State?

Before you make any decisions, you need to really think this through and consider all your options. There are many alternatives and steps you can take for estate and Medicaid planning before the need arises. There is no easy answer.

Remember, before you do anything you need to educate yourself. Salespeople will come knocking at your door armed with statistics and fancy presentations provided by their companies. They will try to scare you with their data and statistics and convince you that the best solution to your problems is an insurance policy, which they sell.

In some cases a nursing home policy may be part of the solution and your estate plan. If so, then you need to do some serious shopping and research before you sign on the dotted line. Rates and coverages vary considerably from company to company.

But remember, you need to sit down with a trusted advisor, a professional who can look at your situation and review your total estate. You need to see the whole picture and make sure you're not "a day late and a dollar short!"

Volo Antique Auto Museum salutes the car industry

The Volo Antique Auto Museum salutes the American car industry on its 100th anniversary, 1896 to 1996. About 200 collector cars in the museum's three buildings focus on a fascinating, visual history of America's manufacturing innovation and expertise from the 1920s through the 1970s.

Automobile historians say that the road to mass production was built between 1900 and 1920, and consider the 1920s as the real "boom years" for the American car industry when nearly two million cars were sold in 1920 and over four million were sold in 1929.

During this same time, car registrations went from more than 8 million to 23 million. In the 1920s and 1930s, car ownership went from being the pleasure of a few to one enjoyed by the majority of Americans. This amazing growth is attributed to the high value Americans put on car ownership as well as higher living standards.

Some of those cars that Americans bought in the 1920s and 1930s are in the Volo Antique Auto Museum (original prices are given): 1928 Chevrolet Roadster, $495; 1928 Ford Model A Deluxe Phaeton, $450; 1930 Ford A 4-door Sedan, $395; 1931 Franklin Sedan, $2,295; 1932 LaSalle Touring Sedan, $2,495;

1936 Auburn Boattail Speedster, $2,245; 1938 LaSalle Convertible Sedan, $1,020; and 1939 Ford 2-door Sedan, $745.

Through the years the value of these cars has increased many times and they are now in demand as collector cars. The Classic Car Club of America recognizes these cars as "classics" as they meet their standards of "fine, distinctive automobiles built between 1925 and 1948."

The Milestone Car Society designates "the great post-World War II cars of 1945 through 1972 as 'milestone cars'." The Volo Antique Auto Museum has over 100 milestone cars in its multi-million-dollar collection.

The horsepower race was in high gear from 1945 through 1970 with the arrival of the Corvette, Thunderbird, Mustang, Camaro, Corvair, Javelin, Barracuda, Challenger and others. These cars are known as "muscle cars" built from 1964 through 1973.

The Pontiac GTO introduced in 1964 is considered the first muscle car with the others in hot pursuit. All remain extremely popular with collectors and enthusiasts as pleasure cars and as good investments. The Volo Antique Auto Museum is known for its extensive, choice collection of these mighty muscle cars.

The American Car Industry has come a long way since the Duryea brothers, Charles and Frank, opened in 1896 what is considered the first automobile manufacturing plant in America and turned out 13 of what are considered America's first production cars.

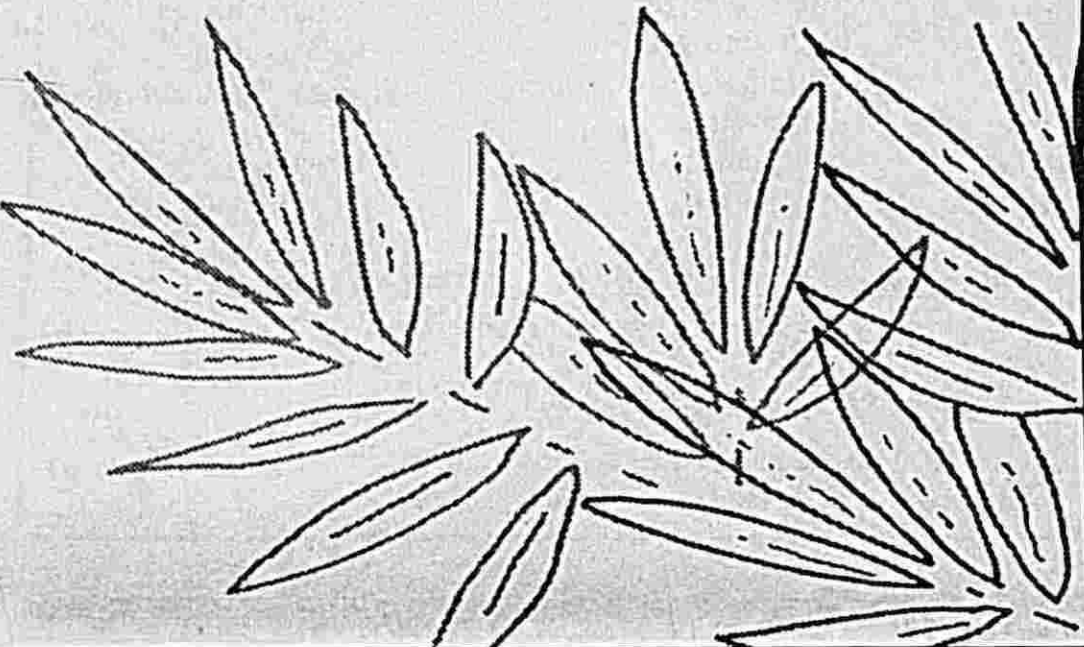

In 1896 Henry Ford sold his first car or "Quadricycle," as he called it, for $200. And 1896 was the year that the French word "automobile" came into common use in America, pushing aside the "horseless carriage" label.

The Volo Antique Auto Museum invites you to enjoy America's automotive accomplishments every day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is only $3.50 for adults, $1.50 for children to age 12, free for children age 6 and under, and senior citizens, $2.50.

Special rates are available for groups of 20 or more by advance registration. Unique automobile books, clothing, toys and gifts are offered in the American Classics Shop in the main museum building. Parking is free. The Volo Antique Auto Museum is on Volo Village Rd., one-half mile west of Route 12, in Volo, (815) 385-3644.

African adventure awaits travelers on Assisi Foundation safari

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Although the phrases "luxury accommodations" and "African safari" don't usually go hand in hand, the Assisi Animal Foundation has found a way to combine the two in an incredible adventure.

Lee Linklater, president and founder of the association, is also the U.S. representative of the East African Wildlife Society. A veteran of safaris, she will lead a lucky group through Kenya and Tanzania this summer.

"This has become an educational outreach for the organization to members of the general public," she said. "It's for people who are interested in wildlife and preservation."

The summer safari will take advantage of the incredible migration, and offer a diverse, yet in-depth look at the continent. Travelers will visit beaches, mountains, craters and plains, and see not only native wildlife but also native tribal customs.

"We're lucky to be able to offer luxury accommodations ranging from lodges, to world class resorts to permanent tented camps with every comfort," said Linklater. "People are surprised by the level of comfort you can find."

Some of the views travelers can expect will include the Ngorongoro Crater, the Serengeti Plain and a reserve on Lake Manyara. A trip to the Indian Ocean will be followed by a first-class rail journey to Nairobi.

"During the train ride you expect Humphrey Bogart to come through," said Linklater.

Accommodations in the mountains will include "tree hotels" on stilts, right next to lighted waterholes where animals come to drink and find salt licks. A concrete tunnel leads to a bunker that is an excellent perch for photographers, said Linklater.

Other adventures feature a stay in luxury tents (baths with vanities) in the Samburu district, crossing a river on camelback, horseback riding at a privately-owned ranch. The Kenya Safari Club offers a very British atmosphere with amazing service and wonderful treatment, she said.

The tour ends with a flight in a bush plane to the Masai mara, a focal point for migration.

"You see herds of animals, like wildebeests and zebras, followed by predators," Linklater said. "It's an array of animal life — really breathtaking."

Entertainment at the luxury tented camp includes a performance by traditional Masai warriors, one of the many photographic opportunities available to the adventurers. Linklater recommends buying "too much film," then buy a lot more, and you'll still need more."

As the safari leader, she prefers to keep the group of travelers fairly small.

"A safari was also considered macho," she said. "This one is not strenuous; it's for people of any age."

The 25-day trek is priced at $3,850; special rates on airfare bring the price to around $5,000. The Foundation hopes to complete travel arrangements by February. For more information, call the Assisi Animal Foundation at (815) 455-9411, or Linklater at (312) 534-4228.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

The No Hassle All-Inclusive Honeymoon

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

All-inclusive resorts are fast becoming a popular vacation choice, since they provide a truly carefree atmosphere.

Even more than the annual vacationer, though, these "one price covers all" properties are attracting many honeymoon couples, and for good reason. At what time in a couple's life is it more important to have a stress-free vacation than on their honeymoon?

At an all-inclusive, there is no need to be concerned about how much to tip the guy who brings your bags to your room. You'll never suffer "sticker shock" from the menu prices at resort restaurants. No need to think twice about what your bar bill will be if you order that fancy rum drink with the umbrella in it. No $30 per hour costs for wind-surfing or scuba diving lessons. There's also no charge for the great entertainment you'll be treated to every night.

All this, and much more is included in the one up-front price you pay for an all-inclusive resort vacation.

The most popular of the all-inclusives, and one who deals exclusively with couples, is Sandals Resorts.

Sandals offers resorts on the Island of Jamaica, one on Antigua, two on St. Lucia, another on Barbados, and their newest in the Bahamas. All include gourmet dining at a choice of restaurants, drinks, anytime snacks, scuba diving, sailing, wind-surfing, entertainment, tips, taxes and a whole lot more. Some now even include golf.

Having visited most of the Sandals properties, my personal favorite is Sandals in Negril on the Island of Jamaica and Sandals Dunn's River Falls, also on Jamaica, a close second.

Stay away from "Sandals Inn" located in Montego Bay, since it does not have a private beach. Also, while the larger "Sandals Montego Bay" does have a great beach, it's right next to the airport, so you might want to avoid it, too, unless you grew up around O'Hare as did I, and the sound of jets is second nature.

Ciboney, San Souci and Swept-A-Way, also on Jamaica, Bolongo Beach in St. Thomas, (wait a few months on this one due to hurricane damage), and the Harmony Club of Bermuda are other good choices for all-inclusive honeymoons.

Me thinks he doth protest too much

Are you feeling bored? Sunlight-deprived? Nosy? Is 1996 just not giving you the kind of scandal you were used to in 1995? (OK—we do have this Whitewater thing, but the Clinton's real estate transactions are about as exciting as watching "All By Myself—The Sex Life of Amoebas" on one of those science channels). Well, then, perhaps you should mercials, if you can picture that. Those were the days, huh?

One of the clips had OJ discussing the blood drops. "Now, over here is where the police said garage to get the golf club, and while he was out there, the limo driver must have rung, which is why he didn't answer. Then when he got inside, he was thirsty and grabbed a quick glass of water. Returning to the bedroom to finish packing, he suddenly realized what he'd done, which is when he slapped his forehead and said, "Darn! I could have had a V-8!"

Unfortunately, he was holding the golf club at the time, knocked himself out for a moment, and when he woke up, he forgot what had happened and thought he just overslept! (I knew there was a plausible explanation!)

Unfortunately, that was all they had time to show. But, I'm sure that there are many other great moments on the "Look at me—I'm absolutely, positively, 100 percent, guaranteed overnight innocent" videotape. Like OJ limping upstairs—"Oh, Ow. Excuse me folks. It's the arthritis." Or OJ with friends—"Look! There's my friend's wife. Linda, have I ever hit you?" Linda, of course, will say "No." (And I can state unequivocally that I am a wife and OJ never hit me, either.)

There is still one little thing I don't understand—why someone would be foolish enough to pay OJ $3 million to make a videotape that no one is going to buy. I mean, the American public is not that stupid, right? Heck, we already know he's innocent, don't we? Why do we need a tape to prove it?

LIFE'S A BEAR

call OJ's 800 number where you can order his "Look at me—I'm arthritic" videotape.

It just so happens that I saw some short excerpts of the tape on one of those tabloid shows. You know the ones—"Hardly True Copy" or "Current Affairs That Are None of Our Business." Not that I'm admitting to actually watching those sleazy shows, and I'm sure none of you watch them, either (ha, ha, ha). It's just that I cut my finger and had to walk past the television on my way to the medicine cabinet for a Band-Aid.

Oh, did I say cut my finger? How, you ask? Gee, I don't remember, exactly. Maybe it was after I walked past the television. Yeah, that's it.

Anyway, as I was saying, they showed some clips from OJ's "Look at me—Do you see me wearing any bloody gloves?" videotape, and the first thing I noticed was that despite being out of practice, OJ has not lost even a smidgen of the acting talent that he used to thrill the public with in movies like "Naked Gun." He may even be better than he was in those Hertz com-they found lots of blood. Do you know how much blood they found? Three drops! Three drops!" He then pauses for a dramatic look into the camera, sighs and shakes his head.

I can understand his frustration. Three drops? Everyone knows that you can't be a murderer unless there are four drops. What were those police thinking?

In another clip, OJ explained why the limo driver had seen a "shadowy figure go into the house." Apparently, that had been OJ himself, and he had gone out to the garage to get a certain golf club. Well, that's certainly believable, since we all know how much OJ loves golf. For example, he is even working on tracking down the real killer while he golfs. Now that's dedication.

Of course, that doesn't explain why the limo driver said that when he rang the house, OJ didn't answer. And then when he rang again, OJ said that he didn't hear him the first time because he had overslept and was in the shower.

Oh, wait—I'll bet I know what happened! OJ went out to the

Bavaro plans second Lambs Farm Cut-A-Thon

For the past eight years, the owner and employees of Bavaro Hair in Vernon Hills have been taking an interest in the communities surrounding their business by raising funds for non-profit organizations, including Women's Residential Services in Libertyville, The Fight Against AIDS and Ronald McDonald Children's Charities. Last spring, they got involved with Lambs Farm for the first time by holding a cut-a-thon to raise funds for the program. Impressed with the success of the event, Bavaro Hair is holding a second cut-a-thon for Lambs Farm.

"This year I want to double the contribution we gave to Lambs Farm last year," said Gino Bavaro, owner of Bavaro Hair in Vernon Hills and Evanston.

The Lambs Farm Cut-A-Thon is scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 4, from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. For a $25 donation, customers will receive a hair consultation, shampoo, haircut and finish style.

The Bavaro Artistic Team, comprised of hair stylists and make-up artists, donate their time for the event to help make money for Lambs Farm.

The money raised for Lambs Farm will help support the vocational, residential, recreation and social service programs provided to over 250 adults with mental disabilities on an annual basis.

Anyone interested in making an appointment or needing more information can call Bavaro Hair at 362-6262.

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

It's Super Bowl Sunday and you're expecting a house full of guests. Forgo the boring potato chips and dip and try an exciting appetizer from the American Dairy Association.

Onion-Bacon Appetizer Pizza

1 package (10 ounces) refrigerated whole wheat bread dough

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter plus additional for buttering pan

4 cups thinly sliced onions

1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning

1 container (8 ounces) sour cream onion-bacon dip

6 strips bacon, cooked, drained and crumbled

1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Carefully unroll bread dough and press onto bottom and up sides of buttered 15-by-10-inch jelly roll pan. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until dough is golden. Meanwhile, sauté onions in butter and Italian seasoning until onions are very soft and butter is absorbed, about 15 minutes. Stir frequently to prevent onions from over browning. Spread warm crust with sour cream dip. Sprinkle with bacon and Swiss cheese. Return to oven; bake 15 to 18 minutes or until cheese is melted and pizza is heated through. Cut and serve immediately.

Movie Pick

Big stars can't save 'An Eye for an Eye'

It seems to this critic that little by little, "made-for-TV movies" are rising to the level of those on the big screen. Conversely some of the recent movies, despite carrying the clout of big name movie stars, are on the level of TV flicks starring Charlie's Old Angels, Cheryl Ladd or Jacqueline Smith.

Such is the case with "An Eye for an Eye," which boasts of such creditable actors as Sally Field and Kiefer Sutherland.

Here we have the mother of a rape/murder victim, Field, reaching the edge and, intent on revenge, going after her daughter's killer played by Sutherland.

As in "Pacific Heights," director John Schlesinger, who has brought us such meaningful films as "Midnight Cowboy," doesn't use his talents for tunneling beneath an obvious surface plot. Therefore Field, whose many award-winning performances bode otherwise, Sutherland, known as one of Hollywood's better young actors, and Ed Harris, with the same fame in an older category, seem only as capable as this so-so script, and Schlesinger's so-so direction allows.

The stars' previous performances might draw an audience until the word of the picture's mediocrity gets out.

Flat, dull, been there-done that, and shallow, are the best adjectives to describe "Eye." It's too bad because there's an entire unexplored world filled with victims' relatives with a great story to tell.

All through the movie, a déjà vu feeling of having seen Angie Dickinson, or Ladd, or Lindsay ($6 Million Woman) Wagner going through the same motions as Field, kept recurring.

The film's beginning and the brutal rape/murder scene are the only ones with impact in the picture. The very violent rape scene is realistic, almost too much so, and it may have been better left to the imagination.

The strength of Field's characters displayed in "Norma Rae," "Not Without My Daughter," or "Steel Magnolias," glimmers here and there, but not enough to notice.

From the beginning, everything preceding the murder broadcasts what's about to happen as Field is an ear-witness to the rape/murder of her 17-year-old daughter since it happens while she is talking to her on a cellular phone. When a technicality frees a smirking Sutherland, absurdity abounds as she goes gunning for him.

Another fine actor, Joe Mantegna, is also wasted in this film.

This "R" rated flick rates two out of five stars, or an "if you must—wait for the video" vote.—

WHERE TO EAT OUT

FEATURE OF THE WEEK

Christo's offers Sunday brunch to be enjoyed by entire family

Christo's, a moderately priced restaurant that features casual dining, is located in the Holiday Inn-Mundelein, at the intersection of Rtes. 60 and 45. It is a favorite stopping place for families since it is located just minutes from Great America and Gurnee Mills, two of the most popular family meccas in Lake County.

"Christo's is a casual family restaurant that serves the finest food at reasonable prices," says Tod Cleary, the food and beverage director of the Holiday Inn, and added, "We are now featuring a champagne brunch every Sunday from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m." Reservations are recommended, and can be made by calling (847) 949-5100.

Bring your most voracious appetite when visiting Christo's brunch, starting with the juice and breakfast pastry table, and a generous serving of delectable assorted fresh fruits. There will be chefs standing by ready to create an omelet, or any egg dish made to your individual specifications.

Get ready to move on to a slice of succulent round of beef, carved before your eyes, as many shrimp to peel as you desire, and/or one of our delicious chicken dishes, plus a medley of fresh vegetables. All of this is topped off with free champagne.

Save room for something from our dessert table. Choose either a rich chocolate mousse, a serving of light and fruity Jello, or a slice of creamy cheesecake and more. Brunch is $13.95 per person for adults, senior citizens can dine on brunch for $10.95, children from 6 to 12 years old can be a "bruncher" for $4.95, and younger children 5 and under are free.

Visitors to Christo's can always find a grand breakfast buffet, or order from our appetizing breakfast menu. For lunch, enjoy a juicy special hamburger, or choose from a variety of satisfying sandwiches, or a crunchy fresh salad. Evening diners are treated to a large assortment of enticing entrees, including rib eye or filet mignon, plus a complete and outstanding dinner, all quality food at moderate prices.

Boardwalk Pub offers casual dining

While the winter winds blow and the snow piles up outside, the place to be is the warm and cozy Boardwalk Pub, a casual restaurant and lounge located at 40581 Bluff Lake Rd. in Antioch (in Old Port Cove Marina).

The Boardwalk Pub is open for lunch and dinner on weekends only during the "off season."

Start your meal with a number of tasty appetizers, including buffalo wings, homemade seasoned bacon skins, calamari rings, and mushroom and mozzarella sticks, among others.

Patrons at the Boardwalk, which seats approximately 75, rave about the Friday "Ethnic Buffet" which features either German, Italian, All-American, or Mexican cuisine for only $7.95. The all-you-can-eat Fish Fry is another popular choice at only $6.95. Crab legs (price varies) and fried shrimp ($12.95) dinners include soup and salad bar. The crab and shrimp dinners are popular enough to be added onto the regular Saturday menu, which includes delicious entrees like filets, ribs, hamburgers, chicken, and a Mexican section of the menu. For those watching their waists, Boardwalk Pub also has a "lite" menu. Children have their own menu, too, with an average meal costing around $2.50.

Soon the breezy summer nights will return, and it will be especially nice to be seated on the deck, which provides a beautiful view of the lake, and seats approximately 40. Until then, stop in the Boardwalk's restaurant and full-size bar, which seats 30 people, for some weekend fun, plus some outstanding food.

The atmosphere at Boardwalk Pub is lighthearted and fun. Live entertainment of '50s and '60s bands is featured on the weekends, and there's also a pool table, darts, table games, and a juke box to keep you entertained. Every once in a while, the Pub features a DJ or karaoke. Boardwalk Pub is available for catering that will make a plain meal or a special occasion a very special event. Call Barb at (708)395-8335 for more information.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You'll intensify your efforts to get ahead in life this week. Strain could exist between a friend and a family member. However, don't put yourself in the position of having to choose between the two since this soon resolves itself.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A ticklish business situation requires your tact and diplomacy. You could sign a contract this week which leads to a lucrative venture for you. You'll be pleased with partnership developments.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You're all business this week and you'll allow nothing to distract you from your goals. Hard work brings positive results, but you must be patient. New moneymaking opportunities arise.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Think twice before making a purchase as you could have regrets later, particularly if this is a big-ticket item. Things go very much your way in general, but romance is highlighted.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're on top of things where job interests are concerned, but you may have misgivings about a certain relationship matter. Happy news comes from afar which will delight the entire family. A surprise visitor pops up this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Though you probably shouldn't burn the candle at both ends, so to speak, social visits will prove very rewarding this week. You'll make important progress with intellectual and creative pursuits.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) This week is likely to bring extra responsibilities in connection with child-rearing or a family matter. However, it will also bring important career developments. Financial prospects should improve.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You're very effective in presenting your ideas now. While an exciting travel opportunity awaits you, there are still some home duties to be attended to before packing your bags. A friend has good news.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Getting an unfinished task out of the way will be easier than you had anticipated. Sometimes, you have a tendency to overly exaggerate such things in your mind, leading to procrastination. Much is accomplished now.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You'll have extra determination and drive this week. As a result, you're asked to take a leadership role in connection with a group or club activity. Your ideas are good and if implemented, lead to success.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) An immediate task may be troublesome, but your future prospects take a turn for the better, especially in business. Taking a break and clearing your mind will lead to new insights. Capitalize on new opportunities.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) One of your friendships will be strengthened this week. Though you may have mixed feelings about socializing now, indications are that you will have a good time and meet with influential people.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I am a recent college graduate who was recruited by a well established corporation in early April. The corporation has invited me out for some intense interviewing process. I will be flying out to meet with these people just outside the Denver area in mid May. I feel comfortable about meeting with the people I have spoken to over the past month. My concern is that the owner of the company is picking me up from the airport and I have not previously spoke to the man. I am afraid of being at a loss for what to say while in the car for 40 minutes and definitely concerned of having a lull in the conversation. Can you give me some tips on what topics to hit on in the case of this happening? Thank you. G.A. - Lake Forest

A: Dear G.A. Good question and asked more often than you think. You can never go wrong by starting out the car ride by asking questions such as ... Have you always lived in the Denver area? ... Has your corporation always resided in the Denver area? If you have been to Denver before, no matter how long ago, it is always safe to say things such as ... I had forgotten how beautiful the mountains are. Chances are, the individual will most likely enjoy talking about himself and his corporation, so you can never go wrong with lead-in statements such as I have offered. Let the conversation take its own path. Forty minutes will go by quick. Just remember that before words come out of your mouth, be sure they are what you want the person or people to hear. Good Luck!

Q: Dear...Search: I have been working with an employment agency for the past three months. The counselor that I am working with seems to be sending me out on too many interviews that I am not qualified for. I have said on many occasion that I don't feel that job is right for me or that I am not qualified to do this. They continually send me out anyway, saying things like ... You won't know unless you try. Quite often the person interviewing me will stop in the middle of an interview and say something like ... I don't understand the service sending you here for this position. Do I have the right to say that I do not feel the position is right for me? I am afraid that if I say that, that the service will stop sending me to interviews. I am getting a bit frustrated by always being there for interviews that apparently are not landing me anything but wasted time. What do you suggest? T.B. - Gurnee

A: Dear T.B. I will guess that you are registered with only one employment service. While this may have sufficed for the short term, it appears as though you have had an insufficient three month search. Cut your losses now! Register with a reputable service and continue to search on your own as well. You absolutely have the right to turn down any interview you wish not to attend, but keep in mind, that a good employment counselor knows all about the company and position for which they send you out to. Do not make a decision not to go until you are sure that you have heard it all. Once the decision has been by you to go on the interview ... Stick to it!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

Winnie

Winnie was one of the saddest sights to ever cross the threshold of Orphans of the Storm. When Winnie came to us in September of 1995, she was literally skin stretched over bone. Too weak to stand or walk, Winnie has slowly regained her health and vitality, and is continuing to gain weight and strength. In her prime at age six, Winnie is a female pointer-greyhound mix. Winnie is mostly white with black markings, a greyhound body type and a pointer's face. Winnie's personality does not show any scars from her terrible ordeal. In fact, this dog is as GENTLE AS A LAMB. Winnie has a calm, relaxed, quiet personality blended with a playful, sweetly responsive temperament and a beautiful face. We're certain you'll fall in love with her after one look into her soulful eyes. Winnie wants desperately to please. And a warm home and a special friend will give Winnie a reason to live again. Winnie is waiting to be loved, in Cage 85.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

CONNIE

There are many advantages to be found in the configuration of the 2439 square foot Connie floor design. Built on two levels, the Connie is ideally suited for a family with older children still living at home. The lower level houses two good-sized bedrooms and will provide the privacy, along with a good place to study, that a young adult requires. Each bedroom has ample closet space, and one features a built-in desk that any busy student will put to good use. There is a full bathroom, equipped with twin basins, to service this floor. The remainder of the basement level is a huge family room, heated by a wood stove. Here the whole gang can relax and watch television or play a game of Ping-Pong without disturbing the rest of the household. Sliding glass doors open to a spacious patio when it's time for outdoor fun. Plenty of extra storage space is hidden beneath the stairway.

The upper level of the Connie has a floor design that makes excellent use of the available space. Open and well lit by windows on all sides, the Connie combines elegance and practicality. The isolated master suite is a good example. Some of the amenities included are: a large sleeping area, vaulted ceiling, walk-in closet, access to the back deck and a private bathroom.

The living and dining rooms are both vaulted and open to each other. This creates a substantial family area that belies the listed square footage. Placed conveniently next to the dining room, the kitchen is sure to please. In addition to all the built-ins, there is an eating bar and walk-in pantry. Breakfast time will be a pleasure in the adjoining skylit nook. Savor your second cup of coffee while enjoying the morning view through the bright bay window.

To the front of the house is a nice-sized home office. There is enough room here for chairs, computer desk and filing cabinets. A full bathroom is adjacent to the office. Access to the two-car garage is possible through a small utility room.

For a study kit of the CONNIE (403-48), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. BOX 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Loffredo to be recognized by football coaching peers

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Fred Loffredo was taking a break in between wrestling matches at Grant High.

The subject quickly turned to an honor the long-time football and wrestling coach will be receiving early this spring. Loffredo is expected to be named to the Illinois Football Coaches Hall of Fame. School officials announced the honor during a close Grant-Round Lake boys basketball clash won by Grant.

"I was surprised. I have been at this a number of years and did not have a winning record. A lot of friends and relatives must have nominated me," a humble Loffredo said.

Current Grant football Coach Mark Barczak knows of Loffredo's influence on coaches and players.

"Being in the hall-of-fame is an ultimate goal. It is nice to see good guys finish first. Fred sets the standard and is always a pleasure to coach with," Barczak said.

Loffredo has had head coaching stints at both Grant and Wauconda High Schools. High water marks came in the form of a NWSC title for Grant in 1964 with an 8-0 record and 9-2 in 1974 at Wauconda, the first playoff team there. He came back to Wauconda to coach a program in the mid 1980's with few players and resources as the Wauconda team one year had less than 15 players.

"We felt they were better character teams because there were no substitutes and we wanted to keep our underclass levels together," Loffredo said.

He remembers the likes of Steve Spencer, who went on to Purdue University and a career as an astronaut from Grant and Tony Gallavin, a standout in that playoff team at Wauconda.

Loffredo has won 75 football games, 20 below the .500 mark but that does not matter to associate coaches or supervisors.

"He is such an outstanding person. He works with the total student, not just the athlete," Frank Cittadino, Grant High athletic director, said.

A three-year player at Tilden High in Chicago, Loffredo was a quarterback and linebacker. The squads won advanced to the city playoffs and were guided by a quiet coach named Church Harvey.

"It is a great game year in and year out. It is really interesting to see the old players and see how successful they have become," Loffredo said.

That takes place each summer at the annual Grant High golf outing.

"Ballplayers are ballplayers. Could Jack Dempsey box well now? Who knows," Loffredo said.

Grant won just once last fall, but Loffredo has seen the losing seasons before. "Last year was hard on Mark, but he has to realize these things come in cycles," Loffredo said.

During the football season, the Grant High coaching staff meets at Barczak's house on Sunday mornings, ironing out possible position changes and strategies.

"Last year (1-8 for Grant) was a difficult season. Fred has such a high work ethic. He is very knowledgeable—I do not think he is capable of being phony," Loffredo said.

How long does Loffredo, whose son played in the 1970's, plan on coaching?

"As long as they let me," he said, with a large dose of humility.

Fast start propels Warren

For the second straight game, the contest was decided before it was time to visit the concession stand.

Warren High's girls basketball team allowed Zion-Benton just 11 first-half points in cruising to a 68-32 North Suburban Conference win. The win, coupled with Libertyville's loss to Stevenson, leaves Warren alone in second place in the NSC at 8-2.

"The last two games we have stepped up and made passes to the right places and shot better than 50 percent," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said.

Julie Minuskin scored all 14 of her points for Warren in the first half as the Blue Devils dominated 41-11. The two freshmen starters, Tiffany Kelter and Becky Moo, scored 12 and 11 points.

Carrie Schneider and Caryn Poliquin continued to have a strong rebounding effort, Campbell said. Warren (16-6 overall) is at Libertyville at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 27. "We know it will be an extremely tough game. Libertyville is playing much better," Campbell said.

Thul helps CHS girls net win

Boys challenge loop leaders

It may have been an ugly win, but Carmel High saved its best effort for the final three minutes of the clash at Highland Park.

The Corsairs prevailed 40-38 behind 20 points from Tina Thul on Saturday.

"She came alive, scoring from both sides of the basket and from the free-throw line as well. We needed this win," Carmel Coach Larry Whittier said.

Carmel (8-11 overall) gained the lead in the final three minutes. A 17-9 fourth period advantage led the way.

Nicole Lynch earned her first start of the year while Jill Denoma contributed on rebounds and defense. Leading scorer Colleen Krombach was held to nine points as she was double teamed.

The Corsairs still remain winless in the ESCC as St. Viator escaped with a 45-38 win. "We were down 16-4 in the first quarter and that is just too many points. We cut the lead to 38-35 in the fourth quarter, but then we had to foul," Whittier said.

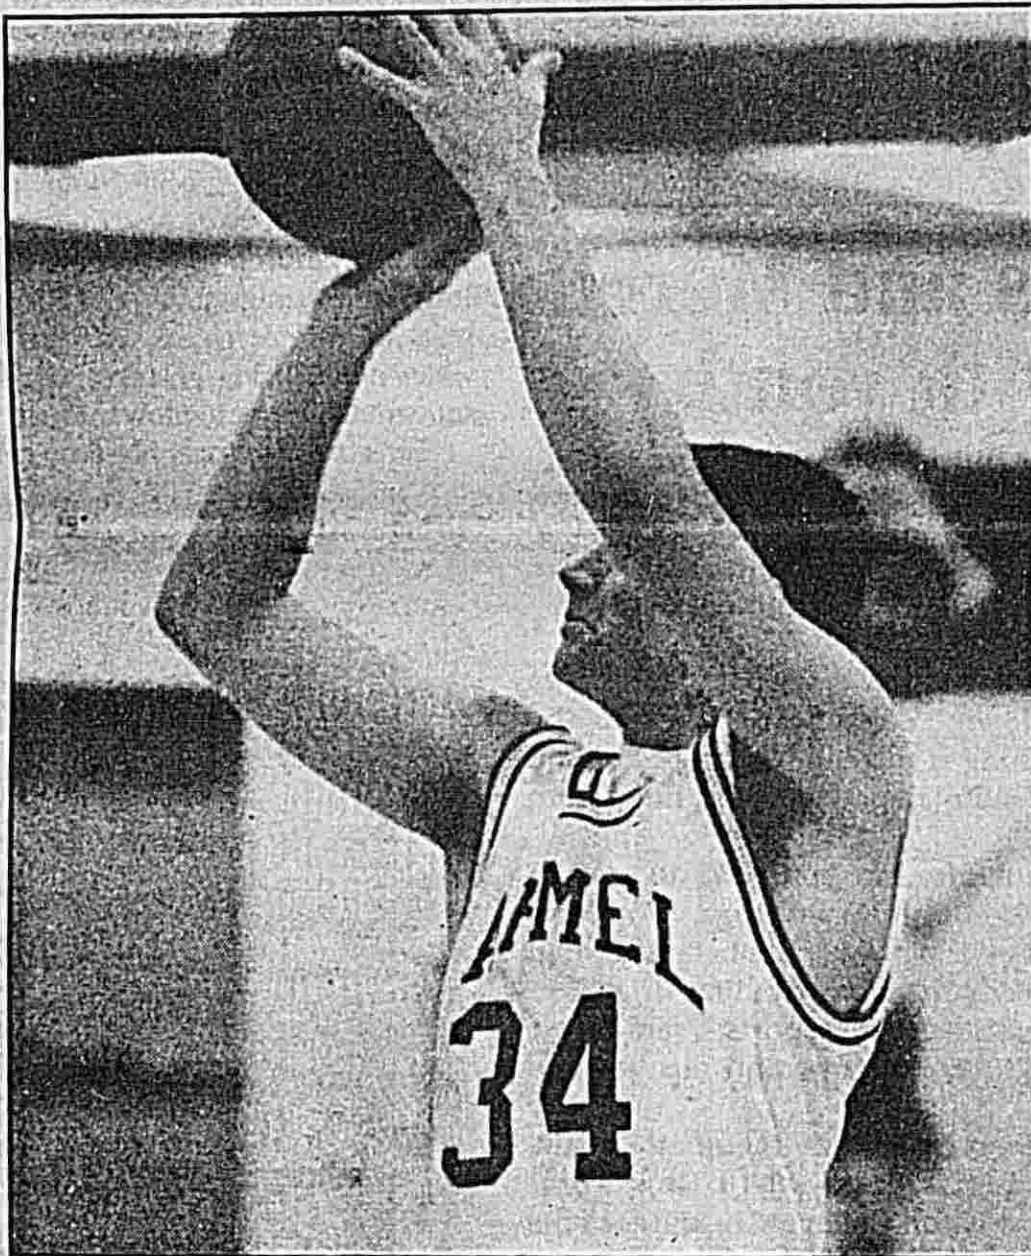

Krombach had nine points to lead the CHS effort.

Carmel is at Deerfield (11-12) Jan. 27.

Meanwhile, the CHS boys were playing out a "close-but-no-cigar" scenario.

East Suburban Catholic Conference power Marist had to regroup to earn a win at Carmel High, as the Corsairs put on one of their best basketball shows of the season.

Carmel fell 67-57 after staying close to Marist for a full half. The two teams are at opposite ends of the ESCC.

"We stayed with them for two and one-half quarters. Marist used a full-court press and we must have had 14 of our turnovers in the third quarter," Carmel Coach Ben Berg said.

That is when the Redskins (6-0 ESCC) went on a 15-8 run to open up a close game.

Carmel (3-12, 0-6 ESCC) started strong early, up 8-2. Mike Graham scored a season-high 25 points and Eric Ames had 14.

Carmel's weakness in rebounding showed as the game wore on.

Carmel is at Benet Jan. 26 before facing neighbor Libertyville Jan. 27.

Rockets find shooting range in win

First, it was Guy Filwett who found the range. Then Neil Fischer showed his skills from outside the three-point line.

The Richmond-Burton Rockets seniors showed the way offensively and the Rockets came away with a win in a three-game stretch.

The highlight was a 57-52 win over Alden-Hebron followed by league losses to Burlington Central and Winnebago.

Filwett scored five treys in the win over the Green Giants on Friday.

"I am proud of the kids. We hung on at the end. Filwett had three of his three-pointers in the third quarter and that gave us a boost, Richmond Coach Mark Dodd said.

Dodd said Filwett canned eight tries in consecutive games.

Richmond scored 21 points in the third stanza, which was enough to hold back a Hebron rally.

"We had some trouble with their offensive rebounds early on but did better in the second half," Dodd said.

Jake Freund, a senior center, scored 14 points for the Rockets.

Richmond played Burlington tough for one quarter, a 16-16 tie, but a 27-8 second quarter run by Burlington sent it to a 84-66 win.

Toby Cryns led the Richmond effort with 18 points.

"We had a good first quarter but Burlington has a lot of skilled players and went on a 23-4 run in two and one-half minutes," Dodd said.

On Tuesday, the second period blues hit again in an 83-62 loss to Winnebago. Fisher had 19 points as he connected on four treys.

The Rockets (1-6 Big Northern White, 5-11 overall) are at Hampshire Jan. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

CLC Lancers come close to second win

The Skyway Conference is quickly becoming frustration alley.

College of Lake County women's basketball team had another close call as it tries for its second win. Waubesa escaped with a 70-61 win.

Down by nine at halftime, CLC rallied for a 48-47 lead on a basket by Katie Klein. The Lancers were very much in contention until the final 90 seconds, but a series of mishaps prevented victory.

"We broke down and missed a rebound put back, turned it over and were forced to foul," CLC

Coach Don Zeman said.

Kenya Mason led the Lancers with 21 points while Klein, a Grant High grad, had 19.

"Kenya got her points inside while Katie did a nice job of penetrating," Zeman said.

"It is frustrating. We have had three conference games and we could have won all three. We had our chances to win, but I still think we are making progress," Zeman said.

The tests do not get easier for the 1-13 Lancers. After facing Elgin away Jan. 25, the team is at regional power McHenry Jan. 27.

Cubs convention warms thoughts for opening day

Here is a warm thought for all Lake County motorists who practiced their ice driving skills this week.

In 65 days, one can be turning the turnstiles at Wrigley Field, settling in on a Monday afternoon as the Cubs start the 1996 season against the San Diego Padres. Jaimie Navaro figures to take the hill for the Cubs that day - yes April 1.

Enthusiasm for the past and present was prevalent at the three day Chicago Cubs convention. The big news for the 10,000 fans gathered was anticipation of the new second baseman - Ryne Sandberg's return and the signing of Brian McRae.

"Stepping away from the game gave me a new perspective," Sandberg told hundreds of fans gathered for a preview talk. He watched the All-Star game on TV and watching the Cubs near playoff bid sparked his interest.

One fan told Sandberg how she found inspiration to stick through another year of piano lessons because of a chance to see Sandberg play.

Another asked about the possibility of a new stadium to replace Wrigley Field. Next question. McRae, the Cubs center fielder, admitted he was "overwhelmed" by the response from fans last opening day when he came over from Kansas City.

"At Kansas City, there is waterfall behind me," he said.

There was, of course, the annual call for third baseman Ron Santo to be voted into the Hall of Fame, but No. 10 is running out of time.

Manager Jim Riggleman joined current players Luis Gonzalez (best known for a game-winning single for a 4-3 win against Houston which kept the Cubs alive for the wildcard until the second to last day of 1995 season); outfielder Scott Bullitt; pitcher Steve Trachsel and Terry Adams and Turk Wendell and of course, Mr. Cub, Ernie Banks, and Jody Davis, Jose Cardenal and Milt Pappas.

After visiting the hundreds of vendors, collectibles and viewing signs of Wrigleyville, a quick drive past the old park and April 1 did not seem that far off.

Chicago Bears and Merrill Hoge score with youth

The Chicago Bears are one of the most popular teams in the NFL, but the players will find time this summer to join former teammate Merrill Hoge at his football camp. The youth players who attend the camp are there to learn about football and meet members of the Chicago Bears. But in addition to football, the athletes learn positive lessons about life.

"Remember that you're not going to catch every pass and you're not going to make every touchdown," said Merrill Hoge to the campers this past summer. "The thing is to keep working hard and always be positive no matter how many negative things happen to you on the field."

"Athletics teach you a lot about life, but you have to stay in school and take care of that end of your life," said Hoge. "You have to stay in school and take care of that end of your life because when athletics are over you have to be ready to go on with life."

"I like to let the kids know there's life after sports," said Hoge. "We stress education, staying away from drugs and alcohol and keeping your body clean."

The camp, which features instruction from members of the Chicago Bears and top college coaches, is for boys 8-18. Hoge's program will be held next summer at Wheaton College. The dates of the camp are June 16-21.

Chicago Bears that are scheduled to instruct at the camp include: Eric Kramer, Mark Carrier, Troy Auzenne, Myron Baker, Joe Cain, Tony Carter, Al Fontenot, Jerry Fontenot, Chris Gedney, Jeff Graham, Keith Jennings, Greg McMurtry, Kevin Minifield, Barry Minter, Terry Obee, Lewis Tillman, Ryan Wetnight, and James Williams.

For more information concerning Merrill Hoge's camp, call 1-800-555-0801. Overnight housing is available.

Warren sophs gain two wins

The WTHS sophomore boys basketball team reached the 10-victory mark with a sweep last weekend.

The Blue Devils overcame a 13-point first period deficit and downed Highland Park 57-51 in non-conference play after getting past Stevenson 49-38.

Demar Moore led the effort at Highland Park with 20 points, 10 in the second quarter as an 11-point lead was cut to three.

Moore and Justin Wagner (16 points) took over the scoring in the third, tallying on several back-door layups. A Colin Shaw free throw gave the Blue Devils the lead for good with just over three minutes left, 49-48.

"We decided to box out better on defense," Warren Coach Tim Bowen said. "Moore gives us one more scorer."

Warren hosts Mundelein at 5:30 p.m. Jan. 26 before traveling to Hoffman Estates Jan. 27.

White Sox to conduct youth coaching clinic

The White Sox Training Centers, the traveling youth instructional baseball and softball camps organized by the Chicago White Sox, will conduct a coaching clinic, trade show and luncheon on Saturday, Feb. 10.

Called the Winter Extravaganza, this all day event will be held at Comiskey Park and is open to youth baseball and softball coaches and league officials. This is the very first time this event has been held.

The Extravaganza will feature a full day of seminars on topics such as practice organization, developing the young pitcher, how to teach hitting, getting the most out of your catcher, and proper throwing mechanics.

In addition, the fast pitch windmill motion will be analyzed and taught. In conjunction with the coaching clinics, a variety of baseball and softball product suppliers will be on display.

The Extravaganza will take place on Saturday, Feb. 10 at Comiskey Park from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The $25 fee includes all seminars, access to exhibitors, raffle, and lunch in the private Stadium Club featuring guest speaker Dan Evans, director of baseball operations for the White Sox. Space is limited. Interested coaches and league officials can call 752-9225 for more information.

Ace combines fun and fund raising during 'D-I-Y' fair

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

The aroma of simmering chili greeted customers at the Ace Hardware Home Center in Round Lake during the Do-It-Yourself Fair.

This, the 14th year the store has hosted the event, and Human Resources Manager Rich Hill said the chili, cooked in a 5-foot fry pan on a propane burner, is one of the most sought-after things in town that day.

The store mixes useful home improvement information and a good time with a charity drive for the Children's Miracle Network. Staff members who are off that day donate their time to run different programs and games from selling popcorn and stuffed animals to raffling of a miniature motorized "Knex" Ferris wheel.

"They came up with a novel idea of hanging up toilet seats to throw toilet paper through," Hall said in describing one of the games. "They raised $700 for Children's Memorial Hospital."

Customers were also invited to watch a number of demonstrations on home improvement tools and techniques. Representatives of tool companies were on hand to show how to use their products and paint manufacturers demonstrated artistic ways to create a decorative flair using sponges and textures, Hall said.

"People could see how to use new tools and what they can do with them to make unusual things," he said.

A disc jockey kept customers informed on what was happening while a display of outdoor fountains set many people thinking of spring projects.

About 200 prizes were raffled off during the day, among them a Weber Genesis 1000 gas grill valued at $400, won by the Schaeffer family of Round Lake Beach.

The Round Lake Ace has been around for more than 30 years, said Hall, but started out about 1/20th the size. The store employs almost 100 people, about 70 percent of them full time.

Builder seeks to blend quality and design

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Janet Brandess combines business acumen with a flair for design to offer a product that is unique in the new housing industry.

A former costume designer with a background in custom decorating, she made the transition to construction in 1984 when she took over as president of Brandess Homes. The company was started by her husband Leo in 1961, concentrating on upscale homes in the North Shore.

"He built semi-customized homes in Highland Park, Glenview and Northbrook," said Brandess. "He made his reputation as a very upscale builder with homes on scattered lots."

As the popularity of affordable subdivisions increased and the population began to spread north, Brandess Homes changed from being primarily a high-end builder to offering the same kind of quality and design in less expensive homes.

"The timing was perfect," said Brandess. "Leo was not taking as active a role in the business. It was a good time to take us out of just high-end custom homes and give us a broader customer base."

The decision was made to move the company into production building, beginning with a 77-home development in Glenview. Lake County subdivisions now include Cunningham Square in Gurnee, Auburn Meadows in Lindenhurst, and Brandess Pointe at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

Cunningham Square, on Hunt Club Rd. just north of Rte. 120, features two- and three-bedroom townhomes, and coach homes, which are all on one level. The Lindenhurst development offers single-family homes, and Brandess Pointe has higher-end homes on a new nine-hole addition to the golf course at Midlane.

All Brandess communities have earned prestigious Key Awards, Brandess reported, a fact that brings a great deal of pride to a woman with a midsize firm in a male-dominated industry.

A combination of mirrors and openness gives a feeling of spaciousness in even the smallest of Brandess homes. Much of the talents Brandess used in designing costumes for Lily Tomlin (Laugh-In) and Johnny Carson during her years with NBC have been invaluable in creating just the look she wants for her homes.

"Everything I learned about fabric, color and line I use in the design," she said. "I work with the architects; together we come up with what we are going to be building. That's why our product stands out."

What do home buyers in Lake County want? Brandess has made careful observations.

"Lake County buyers are definitely looking for value," she said. "They want to make every dollar count. They do a lot of shopping, make a lot of comparisons."

Buyers who make informed decisions, she hopes, will see that Brandess Homes offer comparable value with a little more in the way of design.

Technology offers shopping incentives

Shoppers at some grocery stores have discovered they are handed coupons from the checkout clerks instead of the other way around.

The Piggly Wiggly stores in Lake County will soon join an increasing number of grocery retailers who have begun to use this new incentive program available from the Catalina Marketing Corporation. Stores in Zion, Gurnee and Grayslake will offer Checkout Coupons that are generated as the customer's purchases cross the scanner.

As the computer reads the IPC symbol of a selected product, a printer next to the cash register spits out a coupon relating to that purchase. Shoppers who buy ice cream could get a coupon for topping, peanut butter may bring an offer of a bargain on jelly. Sometimes the coupons are for competing brands, or a different size of the same brand.

The coupons may only be used at the store that produced them, and they do have a time limit. The value, however, is frequently quite a bit higher than manufacturers' coupons. Regular shoppers will be rewarded and may explore competing brands; infrequent shoppers are encouraged to return.

"It will provide customers with coupons based on what previous sales have been," explained Grayslake Piggly Wiggly Manager Allan Kirkpatrick. "A customer who buys diapers may get a coupon for formula."

Installation of the system is expected to be completed by mid-summer, said Kirkpatrick.—
by SUZIE REED

Peggy Kayser continues in her position as executive vice president of the Association.

Libertyville Brewing taps Main Street Wheat Ale

Libertyville Brewing Company is proud to announce that Main Street Wheat Ale, their best-selling, premium, hand-crafted beer, is now available on draft at select Lake County locations.

Main Street Wheat Ale's golden color and spicy, fruity aroma combine with its mellow flavor and smooth finish to create a brew worthy of being called "Lake County's Original Premium Beer." Made exclusively with American-grown wheat and barley malts, American hops, British Ale yeast and pure water, Main Street Wheat Ale provides complex taste unmatched by domestic lagers.

Libertyville Brewing Company operates Mickey Finn's Brewpub, a century-old tavern located in downtown Libertyville. Prohibition marked the only interruption in the bar and grill's history. During that time, the business was converted to a barber shop but reverted back to a tavern upon Prohibition's repeal. In 1994, Mickey Finn's built a 10,000-square foot addition which included an on-site brewing facility.

"This is a logical progression for us," said Bill Sugars, co-owner of Libertyville Brewing Company. "We feel confident that Main Street Wheat, which has been our number one seller since we began brewing, is a great transition beer from the domestic lagers produced by the big boys to a micro-brewed beer."

Libertyville Brewing Company contracted Stevens Point Brewery in Wisconsin to produce Main Street Wheat Ale for distribution. Chris Swersey, brewmaster for Libertyville Brewing Company, and head brewer, Ryan Ashley, supervise the production of each batch of Main Street Wheat made at Stevens Point.

"We deliver our own special brand of yeast for each brew at Stevens Point; it's important that it is fresh," Swersey said. "We receive samples or updates daily throughout the brew cycle, from their master brewer, to insure the product meets our high standards. The Point Brewery's commitment to quality is as great as ours is."

The Stevens Point Brewery was founded in 1857 and is one of only 16 breweries operating since before Prohibition. Since 1991, Point beers have won a gold, bronze and silver medal at the Great American Beer Festival held annually in Denver, Colo.

Rinella Beverage of Mundelein services retailers in Lake and McHenry Counties and will distribute for Libertyville Brewing Company. "We're excited to add Main Street Wheat Ale to our product line," said Sam Rinella, co-owner.

RE/MAX salutes 10 years

RE/MAX Advantage Realty celebrated its 10th anniversary this past December with a dinner party at Capo's Cove in Fox Lake. Broker/owner Larry Fales hosted the gathering for his agents, their spouses, the staff and business associates.

As Fales observed in his speech that evening, "Only approximately 40 of the 148 Lake County Assn. of Realtor Real Estate Offices that were operating when we began in 1985 are still in business under the same name and owner today. I feel that the hard work and dedication of these agents has made that possible."

Fales was presented with a plaque commemorating the occasion with the names of all current sales people and highlighting the five original agents who joined him in starting the office 10 years ago. "We have grown from five agents and $2 million in sales volume to 29 agents and $77 million in sales volume for the 1995 year. Having consistently ranked as one of the top five Lake County offices in recent years, and by far the leading office in northwestern Lake County, you all have much to be proud of."

Fales was president of the Lake County Assn. of Realtors in 1993, and earned the Single Office Broker/Owner of the Year for 1994 from RE/MAX of northern Illinois in early 1995.

Classics gone

Who would have thought that teaching would have become a subversive activity? The few remaining good English teachers at Mundelein High School have to sneak classic American and English literature into their classrooms. My kid has not been fortunate enough to have had the teachers my other kids had. The official curriculum dictates that they do this new "trendy" stuff and my kid, who is a senior, is being short-changed. How can "The Acorn People" hold a candle to Hemingway? How can Chris Crutcher compare to Nathaniel Hawthorne? I mentioned nine classic pieces of literature to him that any high school graduate ought to know and my kid didn't know any of them. I complained to the department head and she told me that dead, white male authors are irrelevant in today's world, and that she had a book published on the new methods and that people are coming from all over to observe correct teaching. When I talked to a couple of the veteran teachers that I have respected in the past, they just rolled their eyes and told me about sneaking quality literature into their watered-down curriculum. My kid's problem in English made me curious. Is my problem isolated, or are there others?

Stop pointing

I noticed again on a news broadcast that they're still doing research on the railroad crossing bus accident. It seems that the incident in Fox River Grove was partially due to the village trustees, IDOT, and somewhat with the bus company. The driver was unfamiliar with the route and 20 minutes late. Most accidents at railroad crossings are due to carelessness and people in a hurry. Let's stop pointing the finger at the wrong people and put the blame where it belongs.

Solves problem

I'm calling about a national survey on public knowledge, opinions and OB/GYN practice on emergency contraceptives. It states here there's a morning after pill that can prevent a potential pregnancy up to 72 hours after unprotected sex. It also says that even though it's available, safe and effective, most doctors have prescribed it for very few of their patients. This information should be made available to parents of young girls and boys. Since it's available, I see it as an excellent solution to the abortion problem. I feel that since no pregnancy has occurred or would not occur, there's no problem. I believe the drug is called mifepristone.

So much for free

To Pat Carey of Grayslake, aren't you proud of yourself, making Route 120 a "free road"? Why don't you tell voters the truth. Under the Route 53 extension, we'll pay $1 billion to fund the free road, and pay in taxes and tolls at other toll booths, and at the gas pumps. We'll also pay with traffic in Grayslake, dirty air, water, and overcrowded schools. So, stop patting yourself on the back, Pat, and start listening to your constituents.

Heartless

This is in answer to the individual in Round Lake who likes to throw cats out of his car at 65 mph. I hope you are a good Catholic and that someday you're thrown out of your car at 65 mph, have to lay at the side of the road and die out of grace because you can't make your final confession. All creatures are God's creatures. I think you're the most heartless, cruel individual on the face of the earth. If I ever see you or someone else doing this, I'll write your license number down and turn you in to be prosecuted.

You foot the bill

This is to the "Save the hill, stop the tower" people. Who do you think is paying the taxes for the Round Lake Area Park District? Certainly not just you people.

Please speak for yourself when you say taxpayers will support a more expensive water tower sight. Why don't you put up the extra $90,000 by yourselves and leave us hard-working taxpayers alone!

A curse

This is in response to the person who opened their statement by saying they love animals and ended by saying they throw cats out their car window at 65 mph. I hope one of these cats scratches you and gives you rabies and you die a slow, horrible death.

Spay and neuter

I'm calling from Antioch about the animal abuser in Round Lake. The problem is not confined to Round Lake. It is all over Lake County. However, the problem is also not the cats and animals running loose, but the incredibly selfish, cruel, rude, abusive people that are causing this to happen. You, whoever you are that called in, are proof of this type of human being that would cause pain to an animal. Letting your animals roam free is bad enough, but purposely abusing them is incredibly sick and cruel. Please vaccinate, spay or neuter your pets.

Illogical

I live in Antioch and am outraged with the thinking pattern of the Antioch High School administration. In the Jan. 12 Lakeland edition, Mullendore said, "My philosophy is you have to come to school to learn." The article also states that she has received criticism from both parents and students about her alarm clock program. The clocks were bought for students on the verge of expulsion from tardiness. Her reasoning is if we have to expel, then we have failed. Parents, wake up, because this administration is failing on a monthly basis. I am outraged by this type of logic. I believe a student who's chronically tardy needs to be dealt with; however, expulsion is ludicrous and counter-productive. The punishment doesn't fit the crime. Let's find a reasonable solution. The main objective must be to keep the students in school.

Something's wrong

Last week I went to Gurnee Mills and entered through Entrance J and went directly to the food court. I saw security walking around but was shocked to see all the children smoking. Is Libertyville the only town that fines children under 18 that are caught smoking? Something's wrong with this picture!

Retractions needed

I'm so happy the Lakeland Press has Lipservice. I wish the News Sun had it, too, especially after they printed the names of innocent people who were unjustly convicted of sex crimes. I hope the News Sun prints retractions when these people are freed.

Steak is okay

I hate the new Stone Gate. I hate the new food, and the fact that it changed. I wished they would've kept it the same. They're going to lose a lot of business. I love the chopped steak, and by the way, it's not generic.

Attend meeting

Attention parents and students of Round Lake, are you aware of what's taking place among the school board? Are you aware that many important programs may be eliminated? Are you going to sit back and let the board decide your child's future? There's going to be a board meeting on Feb. 1, so parents please attend. Futures depend on it!

Way to go, judge

I just read the article about the Grayslake dog abuser being sentenced. Hooray for the judicial wisdom and leadership of Judge George Bridges in bringing the criminal to justice. I applaud his decision and thank him for helping Lake County to be a safe place for all living things.

Correction

I'm correcting last week's Lipservice comment, "Nightmare is over." She is not a Hispanic woman, but is known as the Spandex Lady. Keep your eyes open for her. She's just moved in within the last month and is known to tell lies about families and kids. She's a low-life piece of trash who likes to hurt others with lies. Beware and keep away! #### Thanks, Realtor

To the Wisconsinite who told the realtor to mind his own business concerning the slovenly Ingleside house, you should follow your own advice and mind your own business. I'd like to thank the Realtor. The garbage barrel and picnic table were moved. Now if only they'd pick up the rest of the garbage, the neighborhood would be much nicer.

Get names right

I'm calling in response to the editorial on the moratorium making sense for Wauconda. You mentioned that Trustee David Wanshek described an opportunity to send a message to developers that Wauconda prefers low density housing developments, if you'll check back on his record of voting, he's voted for every development that's come into this town. Please make sense and put the right names in. He's for complete development and would put 10 homes on each acre of land, if he could.

Movie is great

You must see the movie "Twelve Monkeys," it's worth every penny of $7. It's a light-hearted comedy about this righteous redhead who saves the planet. I think Lipservice readers will love this picture and be pleasantly surprised at its happy ending.

Goals, not promises

This is to "Unfulfilled" from the Jan. 19 issue. I'm not a person who makes promises they can't keep. For that reason I made no promises. I had goals and I hope to fulfill all of them. Thank you, Trustee Gina Miosi.

An invitation

I'm calling regarding the person who wants to pick up cats and throw them out his window. We'd like to invite him on an airline flight without a parachute and throw him out of the airplane and see how he lands.

You're mean

To the animal lover. I don't like cats in my yard, either, but I don't throw them out the window at 65 mph. That's just plain mean.

Set good example

We live on Sunrise Drive in Country Walk and are proud of it. Our neighbors, by chance, have become treasured friends and the majority have entrusted the care of their children to one another. They play with one another in an atmosphere of love and trust. Anyone who is not among us needs to accept responsibility for their actions and those of their children. Moving is not the answer. Until you confront your victims and set good examples for your own children, no matter where you live, life will not be normal.

You'll be followed

To the animal lover from Round Lake, I live in Round Lake and if I ever see anyone throwing a cat out their window, so help me God, you will get arrested because I'll take your license plate down and follow you.

Problems galore

I'm calling from Country Walk in response to the person that says Country Walk homes are the greatest. They're not. I was one of the first buyers and have had nothing but problems with Sundance Homes. Nothing's improved in the three years I've been here.

Better off

To the sadistic moron who loves to throw cats out of his car doing 65 mph, I suggest you have someone do the same to you and watch how you bounce. The world would be better off without perverted scum like you.

Artist recognized

I'm calling from Antioch. I liked reading about the ancient art of reviving the gold lettering on the downtown windows in Antioch, especially the ones they're doing at the World Famous Pub. In that article, the owner of the pub mentioned that there was an old gentleman who used to do this. That gentleman was Eddie Brill. He's been gone a long time and he was one heck of an artist.

Just unhappy

I'm calling in response to the unhappy Country Walk resident. I guess this person doesn't get out of the house much, but for the rest of us, our children play together and we support each other. We're a very happy group of neighbors. I think the person who called in wouldn't be happy anywhere if they're not happy here.

Sick person

This is in response to the Jan. 19 comment titled "Animal lover." You're sick. If you really do this, you definitely need counseling for your behavior. If you don't really do this, but wanted to incite a riot of indignation, then you still need professional help. I encourage you to seek it.

Poor mom

In response to the animal lover, you're either a sophomoric ass or you're following in the steps of Jeffrey Daumer. Either way, I feel sorry for your mother.

Not the majority

I'm calling from Round Lake Beach and live in Country Walk. In response to the unhappy person, I have had no problems. I'm fairly happy with the builders and have made a best friend in one of my neighbors. I don't think it's the majority of Country Walk that feels this way.

Wait till next year

This is just to let people know that next year, Warren's girls basketball team will have a team instead of playing ball for just one girl and one coach who can't control her.

No explanation

To the owner of the Buy-Low Liquor store in Mundelein, and the dog that is attached to the store, how can you be so cold-hearted, unfeeling and ruthless? Here I am sitting in my home surrounded by my dogs and other animals that fulfill my life with love and also give me a sense of devotion to fulfill their needs, and I couldn't be happier. The dog that this man has so cruelly and unjustly chained up probably gets no love and attention from its owner. I've driven by many times in sub-zero weather and couldn't help thinking, how does this dog know love? How does it get water when it freezes? How does it get food? Why doesn't the cruel owner just live outside for 24 hours in that dog's life? With all his double-talk, B.S. and nonsense, he has not once explained why this dog has to be chained.

Speed it up

The person who called in, "Road reminders," about Rollins Rd. being 45 mph from Route 45 to Round Lake Beach is wrong. It's 55 mph. Why don't they put their foot on the gas pedal? If they read the signs, it's 55 mph.

Not so tough

For the animal lover, how about if someone did that to you? Why don't you walk down Rollins Road and we'll see, tough guy?

The real priority

I'm calling from Lake Villa in response to the Jan. 19 Lipservice titled "Party time," about the beer truck being outside the Lake Villa fire house. I would think people would be more concerned that the fire department responds if there was an emergency than whether there's a beer truck at the fire house.

More than friends

This is in response to the family that's unhappy in Country Walk. I also live on Sunrise Drive with my family. My neighbors are more than just friends, they are part of my extended family. We've spent weddings, births, and holidays together. More importantly, we have supported each other through tough times as well. If you're unhappy, it's time you take responsibility for your own unhappiness. Through lies and misplaced loyalty, you've alienated yourself from us. I, too, look forward to the day when there's a "for sale" sign marked sold in your front yard.

What type are you?

I'd like to know what type of moron you have to be in order to get into this Lipservice. What kind of incredible idiot, lowlife, stupid-head do you have to be?

Don't encourage

Why do you even print commentary like the one about the moron throwing cats? You're just going to encourage other brain-dead people to do the same thing.

He's watching

There is nothing more despicable than the Round Lake trash that "loves animals," yet throws cats out of speeding cars to see them land. What do your parents think of what you're doing? Remember, God's watching you.

Search for truth

For Rhonda Burke, before you print things on the front page, why don't you get the facts straight. There's a bunch of misinformation on the story about the homeowner fighting for land rights. I would suggest you do thorough research before you start printing a bunch of crap. There's not much truth in the whole article. A good journalist like yourself should search for the truth.

No permission

This is for "No thanks" in the Jan. 19 Lipservice. This person was retired and said they would only pay for the pool if it was in the schools. They don't understand. The village of Grayslake isn't asking for your permission. You're going to pay for it wherever they want to build it, the park district asked for your permission. The village builds things without your permission. Look at the Taj Mahal village hall they're building, and none of us even knew about it.

Big investment

In response to "Mind your own business," I think you missed the point. Cleaning up that area will put money into your pockets. Tell me, how would you knock on someone's door and tell them to get rid of their garbage? It's not nice to look at. Most people take pride in their homes. It's the largest investment you'll ever make.

Where's BBB?

Lake County desperately needs a Better Business Bureau. In the 25 years we've lived here, we've been ripped off by local plumbers, roofers, and carpenters. Now we only do business after several recommendations. What recourse do we have for sloppy work?

Congrats, Al!

I understand that Al Salvi just won the endorsement of Libertyville Twp. I want to say congratulations, Al, I guess this adds one more endorsement to a growing list.

Obvious answer

If you get down to it, the bus tragedy in Fox River Grove was caused by one person's negligence, the bus driver. Why should we be paying for all these investigations when it's obvious that she caused it.

It's a very noisy world, can you hear it?

We live in a noise-filled world and most of us experience noise pollution every day. What we don't realize is the damage it is causing.

"Repeated exposure to loud noise is one cause of hearing loss," says Erik G. Nelson, M.D., board-certified Ear, Nose and Throat specialist with offices in Waukegan. "It is estimated that 28 million Americans are affected by hearing loss."

The negative effects of noise pollution on hearing can result from a single major experience such as the sound of an explosion, but most often results from prolonged exposure to loud noise.

"Noise pollution is just one of the causes for hearing impairment which can interfere with normal communication and social activities," says Narendra Desai, M.D., board-certified Ear, Nose and Throat specialist in practice with Dr. Nelson. "Infections, age, genetic factors, physical injuries, drug toxicity, and a number of medical conditions can also result in loss of hearing."

There isn't much you can do to avoid heredity or age-related loss of hearing. However, Drs. Nelson and Desai agree that it is important to be aware of the potential for damage to your ears and the possible hearing loss that could result. There are some steps people can take to help protect their hearing.

Protect your ears from exposure to loud noise. Prolonged, loud noise is especially harmful to hearing. At work, if you are exposed to loud or high-pitched sounds, follow OSHA guidelines and wear special equipment like ear plugs or muffs. Ear plugs might also be needed when working around the house, using a chain saw or other power tools for example.

Monitor music levels. Headsets which provide quiet for those around you, pipe-music sound waves directly into your ear canal. Be careful not to turn the volume up too high, the intensity of the sound is increased by containing it in the headset. With or without headsets, many teenagers damage their hearing before reaching adulthood because they crank up the volume when listening to CDs and cassettes.

Prevent ear injuries. Many sports helmets now include protective ear flaps to prevent injury to the ear. All athletes, whether participating in organized sports or just taking a Sunday bike ride, should wear protective helmets. Many schools and park districts now require participants in softball, baseball, football, ice hockey, wrestling and other sports to wear appropriate head gear for safety reasons.

Be alert. Parents of young children should watch for signs of impaired hearing. Early medical treatment can often prevent or limit the amount of permanent damage to the ear. If infants don't react to a parent's voice or loud noises, parents should have the child's hearing evaluated. Other signs of possible hearing problems are delayed language development, talking louder than necessary in normal conversation, and complaints that others aren't talking loud enough.

Drs. Desai and Nelson are board certified Otolaryngologists. They are specially trained and experienced in disorders of the ear, hearing loss treatment, ear surgery, sinus problems and children's disorders. They have offices at 1616 Grand Ave., Waukegan. Appointments may be made by calling 662-4442.
